The Editor's column

If there is any reader who can not understand why products cost so much more today than years ago, read this statement recently given by a well known manufacturer. (We heard it in a sermon Sunday.)

"It was easy to be a big business man 40 years ago. Your help came to work and you paid them. You told your customers what you had to sell and they bought it.

"But now, to run a shop, I have to have: tax experts, lawyers, union delegates, labor relations counselors, time study engineers, Coke machines, hospitalization, psychologists, special accountants to collect Uncle Sam's taxes from employees and an athletic coach.

So folks, you can see that the selling price of a piece of goods must be sufficient to pay for a lot of things in addition to the hourly labor rate.

The pastor later in his sermon made the observation that today the average citizen "pays unto Caesar what belongs to him" because of fear of the income tax man. These same people turn around and cheat the church.

We take it that too many of us are honest because of fear. Some do not even make good their church pledges.

Perhaps if the doctrine of Hell's Fire was again being preached, the public would be more liberal with the size and payment of church subscriptions.

Here is a bit of disquieting news for those who thought they were saving money by protesting their school taxes or failing to pay their personal property taxes.

A number of local schools, because they have only received about 80% of taxes levied, will be compelled to hold a referendum on a higher tax rate. There are a sufficient number of voters who have children in those schools to carry the election.

Some people do not realize that every child in the U. S. has the right to an education, which in turn must be provided by the taxpayers. That school tax might be called the penalty you pay for residing in a modern community.

Of course if you want to get away from it you can move to an area that still has only one room country schools.

We hope every home owner will take a day off from garden and lawn care to take his family on an auto trip along the country roads. The grass was never greener and nature is at its best.

Perhaps the family will realize that there are plenty of scenic spots around home which can be visited and it is unnecessary to take that expensive vacation trip. (Dads, we hope you make good use of this suggestion.)

•

Arlington Heights mosquitos are going to have a rough time this year. The first of several sprays was given the bugs Sunday night.

•

Palatine Fire Department will not hold a carnival this year. That organization is like a man who discovers he has all of this world's goods that he needs and decides there is no use of working.

•

The suggestion was made at a recent Arlington Heights village board meeting that members appointed to the new plan commission be told that the job, for which they will receive no pay, will require many long evenings. The commission has held no meetings in three months and there were a number of subdivisions that should have been referred to them.

•

Residents south of Arlington Heights do not want a "tavern row" in that area and will object strongly against a rezoning request to permit the erection of a tavern within two blocks of the village. The hearing will be held at Mount Prospect village hall Friday night.

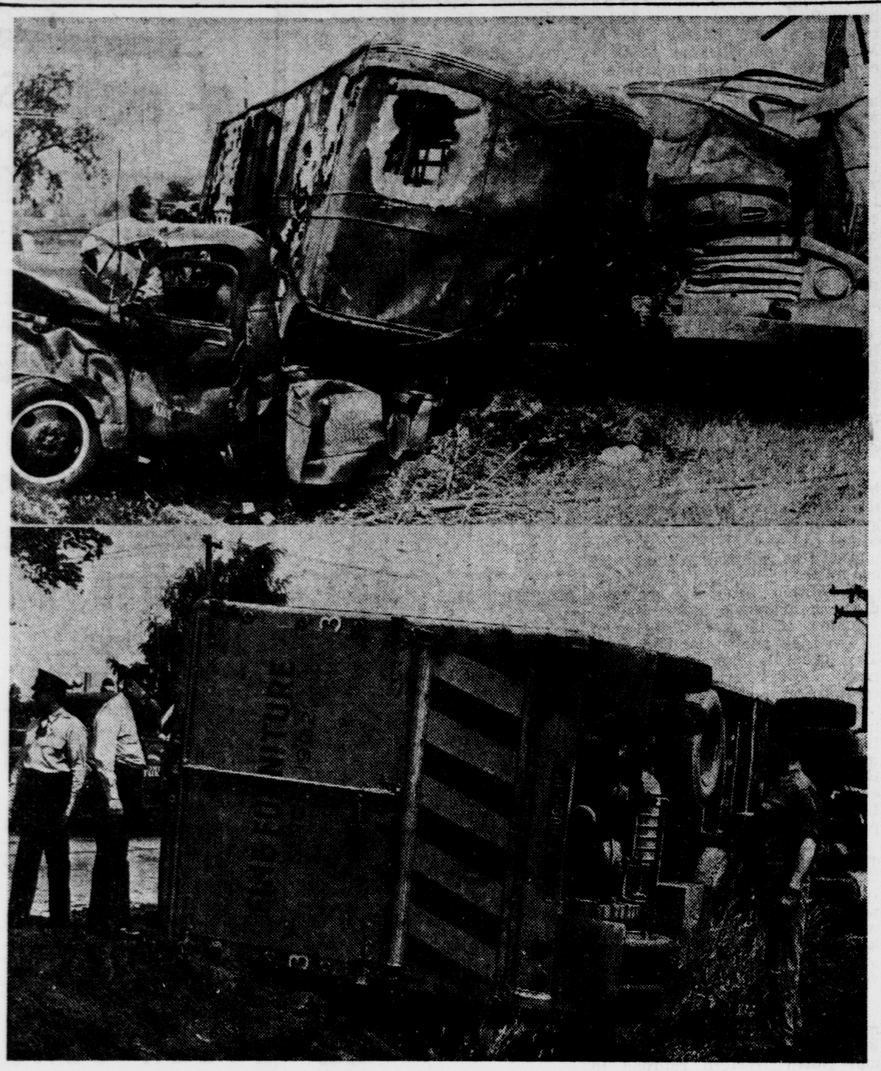

•

Enjoyed the graduation exercises of Arlington Heights elementary school last Friday evening. We gladly gave applause to the chorus, the talks of the graduates, and the awarding of the diplomas. We thought that those young people had done a terrific job in earning those diplomas.

Suddenly we were reminded by the "extra curricular" speakers that the taxpayers had "paid the bill" and there would be more bills coming. What they said was true, but why did they remind us of that fact when we were so happy?

We can't end this column without mentioning that there is a wedding "in the family" this week. Our society editor, Gloria Jorgensen, is to be the blushing bride and John Lazor the nervous groom. The ceremony takes place at St. James Catholic church, Saturday at 10 a. m.

The two drivers of trucks shown in top photo died as a result of a collision of the vehicles at Rt. 53 and Dundee rds., near Palatine, last week, Thursday. Both trucks burst into flames following the accident. (Bak Photo). The driver of truck in lower photo escaped without injury when his truck hit a soft shoulder on Rt. 83, south of Rt. 58, last Friday and turned on its side. County Highway police officers, Paul Bierau, left, and Jerry Reiter, were on hand to direct traffic while John Heintz, right, of Arlington Fender and Body Shop, figures out how to right the huge furniture truck. The truck was only slightly damaged from the mishap. —Folkman Photo.

EARLY STORM WARNINGS ONLY A FALSE ALARM

2 Die, 1 Escapes In Semi-Trailer Collision at Palatine

A truck driver was killed and another so badly burned that he died Sunday at the Sherman hospital, Elgin, as a result of the collision of two semi-trailers June 4 at the intersection of Dundee road and Route 53, north of Palatine.

Donald R. Isaacsen, 19, of Palmyra, Wis., was killed instantly when he failed to heed the stop sign in the southbound lane of route 53. His body was thrown between the two trucks, which locked together, and burst into flames as an auxiliary fuel tank exploded, covering the debris with flaming gasoline. The body of the dead man was badly burned.

OCCUPANTS of the other truck, traveling east on Dundee road, were the driver, Robert L. Kring, 25, of Nappanee, Ind., and Glen Phillips, also of Nappanee, who was sleeping.

The two men were pulled from the flaming cab by a motorist, who did not remain to give his name to the police. Kring was severely burned.

Palatine fire department responded with three trucks. The Kring truck was loaded with kitchen cabinets, the packing of which added to the flames. It was some time before the fire was extinguished.

Donald Isaacsen was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Issacsen. Remains were taken to Palmyra. Kring, who died Sunday, is survived by the widow, Vivian, and one daughter. Phillips was released from the hospital Monday.

AT THE INQUEST at the Tharp funeral home in Palatine Friday morning, Deputy County Coroner Robert Daniels postponed the hearing until July 7 awaiting evidence of injured men.

JEAN ANDERSON, 13, of Huntley route 1, suffered a fractured pelvis, cuts, bruises, and shock early Sunday morning in an accident at routes 53 and 72. Mrs. Margaret Russell, of 1954 Diversey ave., and Emery Russell, of the same address, in whose car she was a passenger, escaped with minor injuries. They were brought to St. Joseph hospital, Elgin, but the Russells were dismissed after treatment.

Six persons were injured Saturday in a two car collision at the intersection of route 83 and Dundee rd. James Stokes, 21, of Batavia, Illinois, said he was traveling east on Dundee when he saw the other car, southbound, proceed through the intersection on 83. He was unable to stop in time to avoid a collision.

Donald S. Orth, 34, of Manitowoc, Wisconsin, driver of the other vehicle said he stopped at the intersection then proceeded through when the impact occurred.

Injured were Stokes, Orth, his wife Adeline, 35, John, 9 months, Don Jr., 2 years and Adeline Joycha, 69. All were taken to St. Francis hospital by ambulance and Sheriff's police.

Melvin Walker, S. Roosevelt st., Arlington Heights, was seriously injured early Tuesday morning when his auto went out of control and hit a steel telephone pole in front of Horath's Shell station on Northwest hwy., near Belmont ave.

He was taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, by the Lauterburg and Oehler ambulance, where it was found he had a broken knee, broken jaw and crushed chest. His 1947 Chrysler convertible was completely demolished and the utility pole was bent.

Severely Burned from Contact with Live Wire

An Arlington Heights man, Frank Schuller, almost lost his life when a live wire, which had blown down during the severe wind and rain storm Tuesday night, knocked him unconscious while he was inspecting trees which had been damaged on his property on S. State rd., just south of Central rd.

His 16 year old son, Frank, who was with him, administered artificial respiration and Schuller had regained consciousness by the time help arrived. He was taken to St. Joseph hospital, Elgin, where he was treated for third degree burns on his left hand. His arm and back were also blistered.

Schuller is now home from the hospital, but is still under doctor's care and will not be able to continue with his farming occupation for some time.

The new Jewel Food store under construction in Mount Prospect, will be delayed several weeks as another result of the storm. The east and west walls, which had just been completed, but not under roof, were blown in by the high winds.

Assessor, States Attorney To Meet June 24 With 17 Justices

John S. Clark, Cook county assessor, 30 township assessors, and 17 justices of the peace have been invited to attend a conference on Wednesday, June 24, at 6 p. m. in the Elks club, 3 N. Clark st., State's Attorney John Gutknecht announced Thursday.

Ways of improving the cooperation between the State's Attorney's office, the county assessor's office and the JPs in the collection of personal property taxes will be discussed. Emphasis will be placed on ways to secure uniform collection and assessment of the taxes and also on a new plan to insure collection of judgments by filing transcripts, thereby making the personal property judgments a lien on real estate, Gutknecht said.

Free Chest X-Ray Offered In 3 Towns

The big free chest X-ray survey in Wheeling, Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights begins next Tuesday (June 16) with mobile X-ray units touring the three areas until Friday, June 19.

"A chest X-ray is the best method to reveal tuberculosis in its early stages," said Mrs. M. Rodewald, 204 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights X-ray survey chairman. "By the examination of suspicious shadows in the miniature lung pictures and a careful follow-up study, skilled physicians can detect the presence of tuberculosis in persons who may look and feel perfectly well."

* * *

THAT IS why, she said, it is important that everyone over 15 years of age take advantage of the community-wide project sponsored by the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium district and the Christmas-Seal supported Tuberculosis Institute. Volunteers from local organizations have been recruited to work at the X-ray buses.

"You owe it to yourself as well as your family," Mrs. H. Wilson, 500 W. Sha-bonee Trail, Mount Prospect Woman's club president and X-ray chairman said, "to have an annual chest X-ray. Besides tuberculosis, other chest ailments such as lung tumor and heart disease may be detected by the miniature film used for the X-ray."

It takes but a minute through the outer clothing — no undressing is necessary. A report is mailed to the home within two weeks. Those whose X-rays show suspicious findings will be asked to come back for a larger follow-up X-ray. About 1 out of 100 X-rayed needs a follow-up film, X-ray officials said.

* * *

"THE CONSTANT Invader', a 15-minute dramatic radio series sponsored by the TB Institute," Mrs. Wilson added, "is currently being aired over WGN at 10:45 a. m. Saturdays. Edward Arnold narrates the dramas based on true stories of people who have fought personal battles against tuberculosis. Health authorities are urging everyone to listen."

Locations of units and hours when X-rays will be available: Wheeling — Wheeling Drug Store — June 16, 12 noon to 7 p. m.

Mount Prospect — National Tea Co. — June 17, 11 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Arlington Heights — Ben Franklin Store, June 18, 10:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. and June 19, 1:30 to 8:30 p. m.

Authentic Indian Dances Feature of Wilson School Benefit

A rather unique entertainment will be the feature of the Wilson School Community club benefit being held Friday at 8:15 p. m., at the St. Peter Lutheran school activity hall in Arlington Heights.

The highlight will be Tribe of Delavan "Iro'Korn Clan" authentic Indian dances performed by scouts and scout leaders of the West Suburban Council. Approximately 35 scouts and leaders will participate in the two and one-half hour long program.

The general public is invited and donations are $1. Proceeds will be used by the Wilson School Community club to help pay the $1,500 cost of black topping the Wilson school playground. (F-ACP

Police, Firemen, Phone Girls Have Early Morning Jitters

Local police, firemen and many telephone operators had a "jittery time" between 2:30 and 4 a. m. Wednesday morning.

State police had supposedly received a warning from the weather bureau that a tornado was traveling towards Chicago. State police by radio contacted many police stations, who in turn passed the word to others.

Police, and in many cases fire chiefs, were called to the stations. Individual members of the fire departments were called on phone to be ready for relief work. Some of these called their friends and by four o'clock when the "all clear" word was received that the warning was all a mistake, the occupants of scores of homes in each community were dressed, awaiting the arrival of the storm.

* * *

ALL THAT came was a terrific rainstorm. It was four o'clock after the weather department had received 300 calls that the word went out that the original warning covered a storm, not a tornado.

The radio operator of the state police still claims he was told that a tornado was on the way. The weather department says, "just a human error."

Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Palatine and Arlington Heights police and firemen were alerted.

Rev. Glenn Gumm, Palatine pastor, when notified of the danger by an operator, said that after a prayer or two, he called the weather bureau and returned to bed.

One Arlington Heights family, after hearing the warning over the radio, went to the basement of their home. Two hours later the man called the operator to ask, "is the danger over?"

ST. PETER Damian church in Bartlett was hit by lightning about 5 a. m. that morning and seriously damaged by the bolt and the fire which resulted.

The church, a modern brick structure not yet three years old, is located on an open prairie on the east side of the village. Father Thomas B. Horne is the pastor.

The lightning tore a hole in the roof in back of the main altar and the fire and smoke destroyed the sacristy and all its contents, as well as the organ in the choir loft.

In addition the church, and the large hall beneath were flooded by the torrential rain and the efforts of the Bartlett fire department to save the building.

Father Horne's apartment, immediately back of the sanctuary, also suffered major smoke and water damage.

At the time of going to press the monetary loss had not been estimated, nor the time it may take to rebuild and clean the interior.

Water Ban Continues; May Solve Crisis

The Arlington Heights village board is working on a temporary solution to solve the water shortage problem for the summer months, but the sprinkling ban placed on the use of water last week will still be in effect until further notice.

Residents are asked not to sprinkle lawns between the hours of 3 p. m. and 9 p. m. on Fridays through Mondays of each week.

Plans are to hook up a booster pump to aid in filling the new million gallon water reservoir located on the site of the new well, which, in turn could be fed into the water mains as additional water pressure is needed. The water would be bled into the new reservoir during hours when the pressure was high enough to warrant filling the storage tank.

* * *

ONCE THE reservoir is filled there should be sufficient water in storage to again allow sprinkling of lawns during dry weather. However, it is estimated that it will take from 3-4 weeks before this temporary measure can be put into operation and the village board wants to stress the importance of the residents observing the water ban until such time that it can be lifted. It is important to keep the water pressure at a high level in event of a fire when large quantities of water would be needed in a hurry.

A&E contractors, who were given the bid to build the new pumping station and install the electrical equipment to get the new well in operation, presented the board with an itemized statement of the additional costs involved due to their being delayed in fulfilling their part of the contract. The total amounts to $11,896.15 more than the original contract. Village engineers will analyze the figures and will give their recommendations to the board next Tuesday night.

Summer Recreation Program To Open At Heights Monday

Little League, Softball, Tennis, Handicrafts, Olympics Planned

Little League baseball as well as softball for all age groups are included in this summer's recreation program by the Arlington Heights park district, according to program director Russ Attis.

The annual Lions Olympics, the water show, tennis classes, handicraft instruction and the girls' athletic club are also included in the setup that rates bigger and better than ever.

"With activities getting under way Monday morning," stated Attis, "We're hoping for a large turnout of youngsters of all ages up through the coming freshman year in high school. The more the better, with many of our activities to be conducted at both Recreation park on the north side and South school park on the south side.

* * *

"WE HOPE most youngsters living on the south side go to South park instead of pouring into Recreation park for morning activities will be the same at both parks."

The afternoon handicraft sessions will be held only at the north side park, though some handicraft direction will be given at the south park in the morning.

A staff of four will be helping program director Attis. In charge of girls athletics at Recreation park will be Ruth Ann Fasick with Kay Steingraber directing handicraft. Dick Winterbauer and a girl yet to be named will be on nand at south park.

* * *

SOUTH PARK activities will be conducted between 9-12 five mornings a week. Included will be softball and other athletics for both boys and girls, and handicrafts.

Softball hours at both parks will be from 9-12 Mondays through Fridays. Afternoon handicraft classes will be held at Recreation park, only, from 1-4. Girls athletic club will be held at both parks five days a week between 9-12.

The annual Lions Olympics, water show, and trip to Cubs park are planned for later in the summer. Tennis classes at Recreation park will be held afternoons.

LITTLE LEAGUE baseball tryouts for boys not more than 12 years old July 31 will be conducted the entire week of June 15 at 1:30 in the afternoon. Present plans call for teams sponsored by the Kiwanis and American Legion, with possibly another one to be sponsored.

Every team is made up of an equal number of boys in each of three age groups.

Softball will be divided into three age groups. Juniors will include 7th and 8th graders as of May 1. Intermediates will be 5th and 6th graders, midgets 4th graders and under.

League play will be conducted at the park for the lower two age groups, with inter-park competition in all three age groups slated with Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Morton Grove, Palatine and Barrington.

* * *

MOST IMPORTANT part of this year's program is to get as large a turnout as possible at both parks this year, and to have all youngsters register Monday morning for the complete program.

The park district is putting up an additional backstop at the southwest corner of the regular baseball diamond to permit more softball as well as the Little League.

Delaware, Indiana JC's on Way to Convention Make A Showing Thru Arlington

The national concentration in Minneapolis of the Junior Chamber of Commerce received a lot of advertising Monday when the delegates from Indiana, all traveling in Plymouths and the Delaware delegation in Ford Victorias passed over the Northwest highway.

The Indiana group all dressed alike and had loud speakers advertising their identity and the convention. State Police Officers Norman Hawthorne of Arlington Heights, and Jack J. Bergbeiter of Palatine escorted the convoy from Bellwood to Woodstock, where Illinois police officers continued to the state line.

Firemen's Carnival Set Next Week At Arlington Heights

Two way radio for the emergency vehicle — that is the goal of Arlington Heights firemen in conducting their annual five night carnival June 17 through 21.

The radio has been installed in the combination pulmotor, ambulance and emergency vehicle, but payment is yet to come. Firemen hope to raise the necessary funds from the carnival.

USUAL GAMES, rides and booths will prevail at the carnival, with special features certain to attract thousands of persons to recreation park in Arlington.

Books of tickets have been sent to all local residents, with many still unreported. Local firemen are hoping these will be accounted for by the start of the carnival.

Swimming Pool To Open This Saturday

The Arlington Heights swimming pool in Recreation park will open Saturday at 1 p.m. The hours for this season will be daily, including Sundays, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

There is still time to register for swimming classes, which begin June 16. A detailed story appears elsewhere in this issue.

Gala Free Barn Dance Party To Hail 50th Year Of Ford Co.

Four hands up and 'round you go; swing your partner and dose-do. This will be the order of the night next Wednesday, June 17, when George C. Poole, Inc. holds its big free square dance party to help celebrate the golden anniversary of the Ford Motor company. The party is to be held at the local Ford dealership salesrooms, 400 W. Northwest highway in Arlington Heights.

The week of June 15 is "Anniversary week" for Ford, and more than 6,000 Ford dealers across the nation are holding open house during the celebration. Wednesday, June 17, is the evening set aside in Arlington Heights and the public is invited to drop in between 8 and 11 p. m.

* * *

LES GRIFFITH and his Harvesters will furnish the music with Don Finfrock the caller. Mr. Finfrock is bringing along some of his own dancers to help instruct, so that everyone can join in. The group will also give some demonstrations of square and folk dancing.

In between dances there will be a giant barrel of root beer and plenty of ice cream waiting. And, of course, there will be the special big birthday cake in honor of Ford's 50th birthday. Best of all, everything is free, and Geo. C. Poole hopes Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Prospect Heights and all rural families will be well represented. Many are planning to wear barn dance costumes with blue jeans and neckerchiefs, or gingham dresses for the gals.

* *

THERE WILL be a special gift of a $50.00 war bond for each and every local couple celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary any time during the year 1953. The only requirements are that the couple reside in the Arlington Heights area and that they own a Ford.

Anniversary week opens with a special two hour television program, Monday evening, June 15, from 8 to 10 p. m., billed as "The Greatest Show ever seen on the TV Screen." It can be seen either on NBC's WNBQ Channel 5, or WBBM-TV, Channel 4.

The show, staged by Broadway producer Leland Hayward, is two solid hours of romance, drama, adventure, comedy, song and dance. Ethel Merman, Mary Martin, Wally Cox, Amos 'n' Andy, and many more stars will take their places at curtain time.

'It's In The Bag,' Minstrel Show, On Stage June 17-18

Songs, jokes, dancing, music — old and new — will highlight the minstrel show "It's In The Bag," to be presented next Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the high school gym, under the sponsorship of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce. Curtain time is 8:15 o'clock each night.

"We promise you an evening of good, wholesome entertainment," said Nelson Hauff, Chamber secretary. "Leave your cares and troubles at home and come to the show prepared to have your 'funny bone' tickled."

James D. Goggin, director furnished by the Textile Bag Manufacturers Ass'n., Evanston, which is also supplying all the costumes and make-up, has selected a talented group of men and women as members of the cast. Interlocutor is Ty Nagle (Joe Tinaglia of Sieburg's Drug Store), who will also introduce two songs which he composed.

* * *

THE SONGS, "Across The Mason-Dixon Line" and "So Lonely," have been published and are now available on 78 and 45 speed records. Another new song to be introduced is "Let's Fall In Love You And I," which was written by the director, James Goggin.

The theme of the show centers around Parson Brown and his congregation who are trying to raise money to save their church, which is mortgaged "to the hilt." How this is accomplished will be seen as the show progresses.

Premier Endmen are Chuck Schweigert and Bob Wolfarth; Endmen — Lenny Morrow, Buddy Goggin, Christ Schweigert (Liza), Ray Miller, Tim Colvin and Bob Ryan; Circle — Muriel Mills, Wilma Ballard, Casey Rule, Mavis Prehn, Barbara Smith, Wanda Eakins, Bert Emrick, Elaine Rittenhouse, Vi Schweigert, Dee Killian, Kay Rask, Judy Bown, Frank Valquiet and Dorothy Heine.

Special music by Dick Everett, Karie Rae, Clarence Roznak, and William Rix; costumes and make-up by Shirley Morrow and Margaret Goggin; dancers from Delores Eiler School of Dancing, and Jan Behrens and Robert Blohm will operate the public address system recordings.

"IT'S IN THE BAG," gets its title from the fact that all the girls costumes will be made from cotton feed bags supplied by the Textile Bag manufacturers. For many years the manufacturers have been carrying on a program to inform rural and city women of the many advantages of buying commodities contained in cotton bags. It is believed that a humorous presentation of the thrift and beauty features of cotton bag sewing will attract large numbers of people who heretofore have not realized the advantages of the emptied cotton feed, flour or fertilizer bag.

Tickets are 85 cents for adults and 35 cents for students 16 years of age or under. They are available at various business houses in Arlington Heights or may be purchased at the door.

Proceeds will help the Chamber pay for the Christmas decorating and other projects, such as the Hallowe'en window painting contest, which they sponsor.

Streets, Water, Census Topics At Adjourned Board Meeting

Among the many items of business at the adjourned meeting of the Arlington Heights village board Friday night was a letter requesting the paving of E. Miner st. from Hickory to Dryden in the Eastwood subdivision.

The village can not improve any streets at its expense. Once a street is improved and accepted it is up to the village to keep it in repair. The matter was referred to the street committee, who will be told to inform the letter writer of the village's procedure regarding streets. The only way the street can be improved is through a special assessment procedure involving the property owners along the thoroughfare.

* * *

A WATER SAMPLE taken from a kitchen tap at 1008 N. Dunton, was found to be contaminated, with a second sample showing the same condition. A third sample is now being tested and the cause of the contamination is being investigated.

L. L. van Oosten, 600 S. Pine, in a letter to the board, asked the removal of a cement alley apron on E. Fairview, between S. State rd. and S. Pine st. The matter was referred to the street committee.

A petition signed by six residents in Scarsdale asked for the vacation of Grove st., between S. Beverley and S. Dryden aves. The street is unimproved. The petition was referred to the plan commission.

The board approved of sending in the amount of $824 to the Bureau of the Census for taking a new census in Arlington Heights. This is only the initial charge for the job, and an additional amount will be needed to pay the enumerators.

Village Attorney Hugo J. Thal estimated the total cost of taking a new census would be between $2,500 and $3,000, but would be well worth the village's investment. The increased population will entitle the village to a substantial increase in gas tax revenue funds.

* * *

TRUSTEE CHARLES Rehfeldt made a motion to have the village clerk write to the Chicago and North Western railroad to ask them to oil the railroad right-of-way through the entire village, and to keep it oiled during the busy racing season. He also asked that the railroad be requested to clean up the obnoxious weeds and debris along the railroad embankment. The motion was passed.

The police committee was asked to investigate the dumping of debris by the Arlington Roller Rink on vacant land adjacent to the rink, as a result of a complaint received by the board.

Attorney Thal was authorized to take action to dismiss the condemnation proceedings against the old sewage disposal property on E. Hickory, which was started in 1909. The case had been dropped, but never legally dismissed.

The first reading of the salary appropriations ordinance was held, as was the first reading of the liquor commissioners salary ordinance. The ordinances will have final reading at the next regular meeting.

Bible School Opens June 15th at Arlington Methodist

Circling the Town

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Local graduates — be they grade school, high school or college — are certainly in the limelight these days. Members of the last of the "small" classes in the Arlington Heights public schools — 106 in all — received their diplomas Friday night at exercises in the new gym of the high school.

The solemnity of the graduation was preceded two evenings before by the gayety of the eighth grade dinner and party. A group of seventh grade girls served the graduates a steak dinner, and Bob Siegel was master of ceremonies of the program that followed.

At Friday's ceremony four student speakers, Judith Clabaugh, Judith Peterson, Don Plank and Warren Smith, told their fellow graduates and parents and friends in the audience of their past school days and hopes for the future in high school and college.

H. L. Slickenmyer, administrative assistant, and Dave Brant, president-elect of the student council, welcomed the incoming freshmen to the school.

School board president Robert R. Lockwood presented diplomas, and both the school band and chorus added much to the occasion. The invocation was given by Rev. C. Victor Brown, whose son, Paul, was a member of the class.

St. James Catholic school graduates were the next to receive diplomas. Ceremonies were held at the 10 a. m. mass Sunday at the church with a special procession following the service.

A party with games, dancing and all-important refreshments was held for the eighth graders a week ago Sunday.

TRADITIONAL baccalaureate services on Sunday evening began commencement activities for the high school. Rev. J. E. A. Mueller of St. Paul Lutheran church, Mount Prospect, offered the invocation and benediction, and Rev. Edgar A. Behrens of Faith church, Arlington Heights presented the address.

Student speakers were also featured at the high school commencement Monday night. Class president Thomas Theis presented Richard McAuliffe, Paula Miller, Barbara Maher and Mark Creviston.

Also participating in the program were the choir, mixed choir and concert band.

CONCLUDING THE parade of graduates were the boys and girls of St. Peter Lutheran school, who received diplomas Wednesday evening. Student speakers—valedictorian Rose Marie Meyer and class president Dennis Horcher — were followed by Rev. M. D. Blume of Evergreen Park, Chicago.

Committee Of 100

In keeping with the end of school theme, it is also important to remember that when school opens in the fall many new teachers and some currently on the staff will be looking for places to live in Arlington Heights.

The PTA has organized a committee of 100 to be on the constant lookout for apartments and houses for rent in the reasonable rate class. Mrs. M. Edward Smith, chairman of the committee, has divided the village into small sections each headed by a member of the committee of 100.

Those who hear of any vacancies are asked to give a teacher first chance by calling Superintendent R. E. Clabaugh at his office.

Fairy Tales Theme Of Delores Eiler School Of Dancing Recitals

Two full length fairy tales for only 40 cents is what youngsters in Arlington Heights and surrounding towns may expect to see on the stage of the old high school auditorium on Monday and Tuesday evenings, June 15 and 16, at 7:30 o'clock. (Admission for adults is 75 cents plus 15 cents tax.)

This marks the sixth annual dance recital of the Delores Eiler School of Dancing and judging from past performances this should prove to be another spectacular show. Remember last season's colorful "Snow White," and the fairy tales of previous years, "Wizard of Oz," and "Cinderella," all beautifully and artfully staged? The superb choreography and clever costumes originate with Delores Eiler.

Mrs. Eiler presents more than just a dance recital. This culminating activity of skills the children have learned through the year is packed full of showmanship and the children get a big thrill out of participating.

Juanita Graves as "Alice" dances her way through "Wonderland" in the Tuesday night recital, while Sharon Bostian and Jane Hertel will portray "Hansel and Gretel," in the Monday night performance.

Narrations will be by Lu Staahl and the tape recordings will be through the courtesy of Clifford Schapanski of the Arlington Record Shop. Lighting will be supplied by Paul Breitspreccher of the Village Theatre. (B4

Lending Closet Cabinets Completed

Members of the Arlington Heights Nurses' club, including those on the lending closet committee, of which Mrs. Albert Peters is chairman, are proud of the extensive cupboards which were designed and built by Mr. J. C. Clemens, and have just been completed. Mr. Clemens drew up the plans so that all the sick-room equipment, which is available to residents of Arlington Heights without cost, is stored in these cabinets. This includes wheel-chairs and hospital beds, as well as the smaller articles. The Nurses' club wishes to thank Mr. Clemens and also the library board again for the use of space for storing supplies.

HOW PAINT WEARS

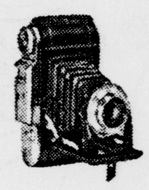

The length of time that paints last depends on the life of the oils. When the oils have dried out, only the pigments or mineral surface is left. As the oils leave, the mineral part is left without a binder, and it consequently wears away. If it wears away gradually maintaining a sound, protective film all the while — you have an ideal condition to repaint.

Best grade paint, containing a generous quantity of Titanium pigments, will cover 500 to 550 sq. ft. 2 coats per gallon, when thinned according to directions. Second grade paint will cover between 250 to 300 sq. ft. 2 coats.

Note: This is highly essential. When paint leaves our store, oils and pigments are in proper balance, and if you fail to restore this balance throughout the content of the can, you will not be applying the full body of the paint.

Teachers Workshop Monday Ends Year

Teachers of Arlington Heights high school remained on the job for one day after graduation in order to conduct a faculty workshop.

First business of the day was the report and discussion of the preliminary findings of the survey of the school which was recently completed by a group of professors from Northwestern university.

The new teachers' handbooks were distributed and suggestions were made for improving the book. The book includes brief discussions of all phases of the school and is intended to help teachers and students to understand the departments and phases of the school with which they have only occasional contact.

Afternoon sessions were devoted to discussions of departmental problems and plans for next year, followed by a brief general session for announcements.

Bits O' Business

New Jersey state taxes, at $35.83 per capita, are lowest of any state's, says the National Industrial Conference Board . . . The Navy has decided to stop making its own paint, except grades which have no civilian equivalent . . . Consumer credit outstanding rose $501 million in April . . . Farm leaders met in Des Moines to discuss possible collapse of price supports for want of storage space . . . Civilian employment in May rose to 61,658,000 . . . Five British and American automobile manufacturers were told to quit India in five years.

Years ago it was a novelty if a youngster was taken for a ride in an automobile. Today it's a novelty for them to ride in a horse drawn vehicle. This wagon load of youngsters, along with several mothers, was one of many recently treated to a ride by the Curtiss Candy Farm six team pony hitch. The ponies were quartered in front of the Arlington Heights A&P store. Free rides were given to kiddies whose mothers were shopping at the A&P that day. —Folkman Photo.

Notice of Proposed Change in Electric Schedules

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY Division of Commonwealth Edison Company hereby gives notice to the public that it has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission on May 27, 1953, a change in Rate 78, Commercial electric Service, and a new rider designated Rider 12—Conditions of Resale or Redistribution of electricity By the Customer to Third Persons. Rider 12 is proposed for the purpose of defining resale and to outline conditions of service for redistribution of electricity, without adversely affecting present customers. Further information with respect thereto may be obtained either directly from this Company or by addressing the Secretary of the Illinois Commerce Commission at Springfield, Illinois.

A copy of the proposed change in the schedules may be inspected by any interested party at any business office of this Company.

Large Gymnasium Provides Ample Seats

Ample seating for the graduation events of Arlington Heights elementary and high school were appreciated by the general public this year. While there were many empty seats at the junior high school commencement and baccaulaureate services, attendance at the high school graduation Monday night was near capacity, estimated at 3500.

That new gymnasium was built in anticipation of the needs of future years and it is no reflection on the interest of present school patrons that its capacity was not taxed this year.

The programs of the various events were covered in last week's issue and this week's "Circling the Town."

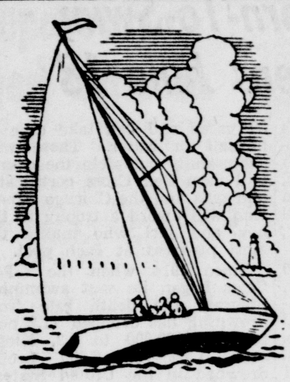

School Benefits from Club, Class, Gifts

The Junior Woman's club of Arlington Heights last week presented the Dramatics club of Arlington Heights high school with a $50 cash gift, and at the same time contributed a like amount to the school's general fund.

Both gifts will probably be used for the purchase of stage or audio-visual equipment, according to LeRoy J. Knoeppel, superintendent.

The sophomore class also presented Supt. Knoeppel with a gift of $200 to be used in the purchase of equipment for the school. Most of this money has been earmarked for the purchase of two large record players for use in assemblies and in classrooms.

The freshman class last week voted to purchase another portable coat and hat rack for use in checking wraps at school events. The racks cost about $90, and hold fifty coats and hats. The frosh also voted to contribute $50 to the cost of the photography and press booths on the football field.

Red Cross Learn-To-Swim Campaign Opens June 18

More than 1,000 boys and girls from 6 to 12 years old are expected to enroll in the free 9th annual learn-to-swim campaign, which will open June 18 in Arlington Heights Municipal pool, Art Holland, pool director, announced this week.

Classes will be held from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. every day, Monday through Friday, Holland said. Beginner girls will meet in two sections from 9:30 a. m. until 10:15 and 10:15 to 11. Boys will be instructed from 11 a. m. to 11:45 and 11:45 until 12:30.

* * *

LAST YEAR 1,250 enrolled in the Arlington Heights program. Instructors will be Marjorie Payne, Nancy Dallia, Dick McAuliffe, and Kay Steingraber.

More than 180,000 boys and girls have passed their beginner tests since the Red Cross learn-to-swim campaign began, Adolph Kiefer, volunteer chairman of Chicago Chapter Red Cross Water Safety, reports.

Eight basic steps are taught in sequence in the learn-to-swim campaign so that after about 15 lessons, the beginner can swim 30 yards and can take care of himself in water. Those who successfully complete the course will earn Red Cross certificates and pins and the Chicago American will award a trophy to the boy and girl who makes the most progress at each pool.

Since 1914 when the Red Cross began its vast swimming program the death rate from drowning has dropped 11.2 people per 100,000 to 4.2, Kiefer said. Last year 6,500 people drowned in the United States.

Northwestern university and Case institute have also awarded scholarships to him.

Mrs. Elizabeth R. Mayberry of Arlington Apartments, Arlington Airport, has received a telegram from the Department of Defense that her husband, Pvt. James R. Mayberry, was wounded in action in the Korean battlefront and is listed as a battle casualty.

November Accident Victim Recovering, But Still Hospitalized

Martha Schaefer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Schaefer, 906 N. Patton ave., Arlington Heights, who was hit by an auto last November 16, is still in St. Therese hospital, Waukegan, but is now improving and it is hoped she will be released from the hospital in the near future.

Martha wishes to thank all the residents who answered her mother's appeal for blood donors, which was published in this paper following her accident. Their wholehearted response is greatly credited with saving her life.

To help pass more quickly the time she still must spend in the hospital Martha would appreciate hearing from her friends, either by letter or a personal call. Her address is: Miss Martha Schaefer, Room 425, St. Therese Hospital, Waukegan, Ill.

Approve New Planning Board Appointments

Mayor Albert W. Goedke announced the names of 11 men to serve on the planning commission at the adjourned village board meeting, held Monday night. His appointments were approved by the board, with Trustees Edward Carlisle and David Zimmerman passing their votes.

Edmund O'Brien was appointed as chairman of the committee, with his term expiring May 1, 1955. Others whose terms expire in 1955 are Rudolph Lacina, secretary; Ben Carns and Charles F. Seales.

Ira Parker, Evrell Plank, Otto Wulbecker and E. T. Powell, were also named to the committee, with their terms expiring May 1, 1957. William J. McNeil, Elmer W. Crane and George F. Schneberger make up the balance of the commission, with their terms expiring May 1, 1959.

Mayor Goedke will also be on the committee, as will Paul Taege and Village Attorney Hugo J. Thal, all of whom will serve in advisory capacities.

Trustees Carlisle and Zimmerman passed their votes on approving the committee because they felt the board should meet with the appointees and explain the duties of the committee, inform them of the many hours they would have to put in, and find out before the appointments were made whether or not the men would be willing to devote this time to the job.

The original planning commission contained 19 men and it is believed it will be easier to get a quorum with few members.

Marks 50 Years With One Company

On June 9 Henry F. Lerch observed his fiftieth anniversary with Union Special Machine Co. of Chicago, manufacturers of industrial sewing machines.

In 1903 he entered their employ as a clerk in the supply room, handling factory supplies and receiving raw materials. As the company grew from its original 150 employees, his work included purchasing and later the employment and handling of factory personnel.

With further expansion to its present 1,200 employees, Mr. Lerch's background and training qualified him for the work of assistant purchasing agent, the capacity which he now fills in maintaining the flow of raw materials, tools and other items needed in manufacture.

Mr. Lerch was honored with a luncheon at the Merchants and Manufacturer's club in Chicago on June 3. The luncheon was attended by William North, president of Union Special Machine company, as well as all executive officers of the company.

Mr. Lerch, with his wife, Frieda, resides at 339 N. Plum Grove ave. They have been residents of Palatine since 1947. Mr. Lerch has been active in the Palatine Lions club as well as a member of the Palatine Masonic Lodge No. 314, and the Palatine Chapter of the Eastern Star.

Cotillion Club Holds Last Dance of Year

The Cotillion Club of Arlington Heights held its last dance of the season Saturday, June 6, at Tam O'Shanter Country club. A candle light cocktail hour preceeded the dance on the upper deck of the club house. At the far end of the room, set against a mirrored wall, a large table covered with a white cloth held an array of hot and cold hors-d'oeuvres for the members and their guests.

During the cocktail hour Mrs. Robert Rohner, outgoing president of the club, presented the new officers for the coming year. Mrs. Ralph Clabaugh, vice president, and Mrs. John Baker, treasurer, were not able to attend the dance. Mrs. George Tuttle, president, and Mrs. Paul Colianni Jr. secretary, were given wristlet corsages harmonizing with their gowns. The corsages were a gift from the outgoing board.

Mrs. Rohner and Mrs. Carl Behrens Jr., dance chairman for the past year, received many compliments on their arrangements and on the fine program they planned for the club members. Next year's season is being anticipated with pleasure by the Cotillion group.

Camp Reinberg Prepares For 500 Underprivileged Children

Five groups of 96 children each will be entertained at Camp Reinberg this year. The first group will arrive June 29 and the last group will leave September 5.

Miss Chant, director of the camp, says that everything is in readiness for the children who are looking forward to 12 days they will each spend there.

Funds for the support of Camp Reinberg summer program come from three sources: Fees paid by its participating settlement houses and community centers; private contributions and the Community Fund of Chicago (Red Feather).

The staff of 24 counselors come from New York School of Social Work, University of Illinois School of Social Work, Union Theological Seminary, Chicago Theological Seminary, University of Chicago, Carlton College, College of Wooster, Parsons College and University of West Virginia.

Each group of visitors will be accompanied by 12 counselors who will return with them. The visitors will be housed in 12 cottages.

The staff members include the following:

Winifred Oswald, Palatine, who will be returning for the third season.

Dr. W. E. Campbell who for the past three years has made daily visits to the camp to supervise the health of the children.

Dave Kurtz, Arlington Heights, food manager, is returning for his fourth year.

George Petersdorff, Palatine, who will supervise donkey riding and care of pets.

Jack Winn, Palatine, permanent maintenance man.

Mrs. Johnson, formerly Mrs. Huber, will return this year as chief cook.

The camp stresses simple outdoor living, the children planning own menu for "cook-outs" and occasional "sleep-outs."

A number of improvements have been made since last summer, including erection of two fire places and moving of a cottage.

The camp was recently visited by representatives of the schools of Palatine, Arlington Heights, Barrington, River Grove and Glencoe, who are considering an expanding use of the camp's resources for outdoor education. The directorate of Camp Reinberg includes two Palatine residents, William T. Distler and Robert B. Hamor, who is a member of the facilities committee.

Miss Chant has been a director at Camp Reinberg since 1946 when the Camp Reinberg Association took over the grounds camp facilities to needy Chicago children.

Monica Thomas Weds Emmett McDougall

St. Beatrice church, Schiller Park, was the scene of the wedding April 18 of Monica Faith Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kwasnieski, 4055 Prairie ave., Schiller Park, and Emmett G. McDougall, son of Mr. Earl McDougall, 206 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights.

Father Henry Roszkowski officiated at the 3 o'clock ceremony, during which the bride's father gave her in marriage. The church was decorated with flower vases on the altar. Miss Helena Sienko, soloist, sang "Panis Angelicus."

For her marriage, the bride wore a gown fashioned with a lace over satin bodice, scooped neckline, long sleeves and a nylon net skirt with inserts of lace. Her fingertip veil was held to her head with a crown headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white camellias.

Serving the bride as maid of honor was Miss Marcia Brady of Riverside, who wore a white gown with strapless lace bodice and six tiered circular skirt. A short sleeved lace jacket with stand up collar completed her ensemble. Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

Something special in the way of a dessert are pineapple slices, made by an excellent recipe belonging to Mrs. Harvey Zimmerman of 702 S. Highland, Arlington Heights.

This recipe, plus a cookie recipe for toffee squares, are favorites in the Zimmerman household.

The pineapple slices are light and soft in texture and rich in color. The dough is somewhat similar to a cookie base and is filled with a luscious pineapple mixture.

Versatile in their use, these delicious slices can be served for afternoon or evening refreshments, as a dessert following a meal, or as a special breakfast treat.

The toffee squares are a taste appealing, crunchy cookie. Easy to make, they have a topping of sweet chocolate and chopped nutmeats. These cookies will make a hit with the youngsters in your household!

Pineapple Slices

Filling:

½ cup sugar.
3 tablespoons cornstarch.
1/8 teaspoon salt.
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten.
3/4 cup water.
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple.

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt together thoroughly. Add egg yolk, water and pineapple.

Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Chill thoroughly. Can put pan over ice water for quick chilling.

Crust:

1 pky. dry yeast.
½ cup plus 2 tablespoons milk, scalded and cooled.
1 teapsoon sugar.
1 cup butter or oleo.
2½ cups all-purpose flour, or slightly more.

Cut butter into flour with pastry blender until evenly mixed. Add yeast mixture and egg yolks and mix thoroughly. Dough is quite soft and moist.

Turn out on a well-floured pastry cloth. Divide dough into two parts. Roll lightly to fit a jelly roll pan, 11 by 15 inches. Bring dough up and over edges of pan. Spread cooled filling in prepared pan. Roll remaining dough to fit top of pan. Be sure to cut slits on top to allow steam to escape. Press edges together. Let rise for one hour.

Bake for 45 minutes in 375 degree oven. A thin confectioners sugar icing can be dribbled on top while the slices are still warm if you wish to serve them as a dessert. Serves 16.

Toffee Squares

1 cup butter or margarine.
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar.
1 egg.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
2 cups all-purpose flour.
½ teaspoon salt.
½ pound sweet chocolate, melted.
1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans.

Cream the butter and slowly add the brown sugar. Add the unbeaten egg and blend until light and fluffy. Add vanilla.

Sift the flour and salt together and add to the above mixture.

Spread batter evenly in an ungreased 10 by 15 inch pan. Bake 25 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

Remove from oven and spread the melted sweet chocolate on top at once. Sprinkle on the chopped nutmeats.

Presenting the Younger Generation

Little Women

Rosalie Valiant Keller, the pretty baby girl pictured above, is the latest member of the family of "little women." Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack V. Keller of 830 N. Princeton, Arlington Heights.

The Kellers have three little girls, Susan, Kathy and Rosalie. Susan and Kathy are of school age and will enter the fourth and second grades, respectively, of the North school this coming fall. Rosalie, a brown haired, blue-eyed, 15-month-old, is a little shadow when her big sisters are near. She enjoys following them around and already pronounces their names.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Gibson of Elkhart, Ind., are the grandparents of the three girls.

Lovebirds?

. . . well, nearly so! Many smiles and numerous happy relationships exist between these two brothers. They are 12-month-old Jeffrey and three and one-half year old Craig, sons of Mr and Mrs. A. H. Schulze of 628 Dryden place, Arlington Heights. Both boys have blond hair and blue eyes.

Jeffrey is learning to walk, plays in his play pen and is most always full of smiles. Craig enjoys playing with his little brother and is anxious to help feed him and do various things for him. He also is out of doors in his sandbox and riding his car or playing with the abundant flock of neighbor children.

Cindy Lyn

Cindy Lyn Edwards is the pretty name of the next cherub. She is the blonde and blue-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Edwards of 614 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights. Cindy Lyn was seven months old when this picture was taken. We were unable to contact the parents for further information.

First Child

Eleven months ago a brown-eyed, reddish haired baby boy increased the family size of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Calvin of 537 S. Pine, Arlington Heights, to three members. He is Jeffrey Robert, the smiling little lad pictured last in today's representation of wee folks.

"Jeff walks now, jabbers a lot and has a good time like all children his age," stated Mrs. Calvin. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nelson and C. J. Calvin, all of Hibbing, Minn., are the grandparents of Jeff.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

No lesser power than God's, can heal the sick, comfort those that mourn, and establish man's health and harmony. This will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 14. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be GOD THE PRESERVER OF MAN.

The Golden Text is from Proverbs (29:25) "Whoso putteth his trust in the Lord shall be safe."

Lesson-Sermon passages from the Bible (King James Version) include:

"The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil: he shall preserve thy soul. The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore" (Ps. 121: 7,8).

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"As the children of Israel were guided triumphantly through the Red Sea, the dark ebbing and flowing tides of human fear,—as they were led through the wilderness, walking wearily through the great desert of human hopes, and anticipating the promised joy,—so shall the spiritual idea guide all right desires in their passage from sense to Soul, from a material sense of existence to the spiritual, up to the glory prepared for them who love God" (p. 566).

Acute Shortage of Elementary Teachers

Only about 200 elementary teachers were added to the state's teaching force by commencements at the four teachers colleges of Illinois last week.

Yet, according to a study reported in the current issue of Education Today, joint publication of these schools, more than 5,000 calls for elementary teachers have already come to their placement bureaus this season.

County Board Asks State For Special Drainage Legislation

A resolution which seeks to solve drainage problems in Cook county and other Illinois counties by the introduction of adequate legislation to the state legislature, was approved Tuesday by the Board of County Commissioners.

The resolution was introduced by a committee composed of John J. Duffy, chairman, C. A. Jensen and George F. Nixon. It specifies that legislation clarifying, consolidating and increasing the powers and functions of a drainage district board or boards be introduced and that a resolution be introduced in the present session of the state legislature, requesting the creation of a commission to study existing drainage problems throughout the state and particularly in Cook county.

The committee reported in the resolution that under the existing laws of the state, no adequate remedy or relief to drainage problems can be reached. A survey of the storm water and drainage conditions existing in the incorporated and unincorporated areas of Cook county has been made by the county highway department and the report is on file with the county board.

June Brides Change Social Security Names

June is bursting out all over in Oak Park, and it has a definite effect on the Oak Park social security office according to Miss Gladys Wendel, acting manager. It seems a great many ladies are getting married in June and they are having their names changed on their social security cards. Miss Wendel said all brides who have recently changed their names, as well as those who are going to do so in the near future, should have their names changed on their social security card so that when they again work in covered employment, there will be no difficulty in getting full credit for the wages they will be paid.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

All of the elements in this scenic view seem to belong together and combine nicely to bring attention to the barn. The curve of the fence and road is effective in guiding the eye to the main subject.

The Importance of Composition

COMPOSITION is important in every kind of picture taking, because it is the way the subject matter of a picture is arranged.

When all of the elements in a picture are arranged in a pleasing fashion, then you have a picture that's pleasant to look at and I'm sure that's what we all want in our snapshooting.

A picture that is well composed tells just one story, and tells it so well that a glance will tell you why the picture was taken. This means that you must study the scene carefully in the camera's viewfinder so that you don't get parts of two or three other stories in it.

When you take a picture of a little girl playing in the backyard sandbox, and on one side you see a neighbor hanging out the family wash and on the other side you have half of a man changing a tire on an automobile — that's a picture that has parts of several stories and kills the punch of the main story you want to tell. It is as though you had taken an article from this newspaper, cut the paragraphs apart, and inserted at random, lines from other unrelated stories. Obviously, it would be a very garbled hodge-podge. And some pictures I've seen are just that!

In taking the same picture, if the photographer moved in closer to the little girl and her playing in the sandbox—chances are good he'd have a pleasing picture that tells its story simply well.

In no case is composition more important than in scenic views. Sometimes, if the action is sufficiently meaningful or the person involved very interesting, we can forgive a certain amount of error in composition in some picture types. But in a scenic view, if it isn't well composed you just don't have anything at all.

Probably the greatest difficulty in composing a scenic view is being able to separate what we can see with our eyes from what we can see in the camera's viewfinder. A little concentration is the answer. If you really look at the scene through the viewfinder, with your mind as well as your eye, then you will know just what is going to appear on your picture and will take it accordingly.

—John Van Guilder

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

There is one book in the Bible which ought not to be read in the time-honored "chapter a day" manner; that is the Book of Proverbs. This is really a scrap book of witty sayings and comments on life. To be appreciated for what it is, it ought probably to be read in the Revised Standard Version, or perhaps Moffatt or Smith's translations.

Some rendering in contemporary speech improves the flavor of the wit. The Book of Proverbs should be read in bits and snatches. That is the way that it came into being. The wise men of Israel were presented with problems; to these they gave epigrammatic answers. The answers were improved from time to time, as any wise jester continually polishes his material. But as wise men, these jesters did not attempt to say everything that might be said on a given matter. Their answers were the kind that could be repeated and with each repetition, new insights might be gained from the saying.

* * *

IMAGINE A young man having trouble with his mother-in-law, let us say, coming to a wise man of Israel, wanting to know whether her continual talking, trying to settle all the affairs of his wife and himself and their children, is going to be a help or a hindrance to their life. And the wise man might answer, "When words are many, transgression is not lacking, but he who restrains his lips is prudent." (10:19).

He could take that saying home and use it a few times at appropriate places in the family conversation and it might do some good.

Or suppose a loud young man at the corner pub declaiming on his earning power, or his intelligence, or his strength, or whatever else of which young men may boast. The wise man may quietly have commented, "Let another praise you, and not your own mouth; a stranger, and not your own lips." (27:2).

Can't you hear his friends chuckle? They would have taken that home and told it to their friends and family — and perhaps the next time they were inclined to color the truth in a boasting manner, they might have remembered it.

* * *

YOU CAN IMAGINE for yourself a situation which gave rise to this one, "A continual dripping on a rainy day and a contentious woman are alike." (27:15). You can find them on every page.

The proverbs are wisdom for daily living, coming out of the growing maturity of Israel. Their authors accepted life as it was, and made their comments for its meaningful enrichment. This is not the language of the pulpit, nor is it the meditation of the study, it is the pithy comment of the marketplace. There are all manner of people about us, and a man may not always choose his companions; there are heroes and harlots in the world, bookies and bishops, tycoons and goon gangs. A man must learn to take each as he comes. It is possible that an earnest Christian who really wants to love his neighbor, but finds it difficult to like each one of his neighbors, may gain some insight and practical help from the sayings of the wise men.

You Can't Put Your Nose Up At These Skunks

Who said skunks is a stinking business? Not Charles Hume, of 1581 Woodland ave., Des Plaines, anyway. He raises them as a hobby, or at least it started out that way.

His pets become celebrities when they appear in the children's book "Squiffy the Skunk" which comes out in a few weeks.

In the book, written and photographed by George Neff and Grace Brett, the authors dressed the animals in clown suits, baby clothes and farmers outfits, then photographed them in color.

Hume said he has had several strange requests for his pets. One of them was posing a skunk with a model in a Loop hotel while she fed it chlorophyll tablets.

Doughnut Tag Day

Wilson Community

Garden Improvement Association

Arlington Heights Gardens Improvement association held a meeting Thursday evening at Wilson school, and Mr. Laughlin presided in the absence of Mr. Luempert. Membership has enlarged one-third and the membership fee to cover immediate expenses was set at 50 cents per family. Mr. Nygren was appointed chairman to select a committee to draw up a charter asserting the aims of the organization. It is understood that this is primarily a working project rather than a social function. In keeping with this aim, members agreed to recondition existing street signs and erect new ones where possible during the month of June. Results will be visible by the date of the next meeting, which is Thursday, June 25 at 8 p.m. at Wilson school.

Indian Dances

Authentic Indian dances, taught to West Suburban Council boy scouts by the tribe of Delevan "Iro'korn Clan" Indians, will be presented at the St. Peter Lutheran School activity building June 12 at 8:15 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Wilson School Community club. Approximately 35 scouts will present two and one-half hours of entertainment. The general public is invited to attend and proceeds will be used by the Wilson Community club to help pay the $1500 cost of black topping the Wilson school playground.

Boot Graduate

Herbert Rickert Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rickert of Hintz rd., graduated from boot training ot Camp Dewey, Great Lakes, last Saturday, June 6. Long Grove Events

Mrs. Melvin Towner and Mrs. Arthur Potts called on Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Potts of Grayslake Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Emma Rodder, Mundelein, spent Saturday with her sister, Mrs. Charles Herschberger.

Miss Maxine Schammahorn, Wheeling, was a Sunday dinner guest in the G. B. Umbdenstock home.

Foreign Student Week

A foreign student week end is being planned by the women's auxiliary of the Long Grove church and it is believed by asking these young people to our home they will better realize how we Americans live, play and work, and thereby gain a better understanding of us and we of them. The week end of June 27 has been chosen for the affair. Contact Mrs. William Park, Mrs. Malcomb Shroyer or Mrs. Rushtom Williamson if you want to invite one or more students.

Richard Reimers and Miss Lorraine Reimers are spending several days at their summer cottage in Sister Bay, Wisc.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Umbdenstock, Mrs. Emma Kruger, Harry and William Umbdenstock, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hauseman and son, Kenneth, attended the 72nd birthday anniversary celebration of Robert Nordstrom of Palatine, Sunday.

Sunday, June 14, we begin our summer church schedule; Junior church and church services begin at 9:30 a. m. The women's guild meets Thursday afternoon at 1:30. The guild is collecting used clothing for shipment to Korea. You may leave clothing in boxes in the large Sunday school room.

Vacation church school will begin Tuesday. Children from 3 to 14 are invited to attend. Sessions will run from 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. Tuesday through Friday for two weeks.

Nancy Shroyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcomb Shroyer, is graduating from Scripps college in California this week.

MRS. JOS. REMSING — Ph. VAnderbilt 4-8853

Forest River

Marie Perschon became the bride of Roy Marsh last Saturday morning at the Trinity Lutheran church of Des Plaines. The reception was held at the home of her parents. The newlyweds will be making their home in Sycamore, Ill., on a farm.

Feehanville school has closed for the summer and is expected to re-open about September 7. The children who will be in the sixth, seventh or eighth grades, if they have not registered yet, are asked to contact the clerk of the school board, Mrs. Remsing, some time before the end of the vacation season. A complete registry is to be made of the students that attend the Feehanville school system, from first grade to eighth grade. Even though they have been attending school at Prospect Hts., tuition is paid for the sixth, seventh and eighth by the Feehanville board. Everyone is expected to cooperate in this matter.

For the benefit of those people who have pets on the loose, in our community, the Forest Preserves have issued a warning that all cats and dogs running loose in the Forest Preserves, are to be shot on sight as the entire area is under quarantine for rabies. Two rabid foxes were caught in the preserves a few weeks ago, so that makes quarantine a necessity. It is hoped that the owners of dogs running loose will give this some thought and at least for the time present, keep their pets enclosed in some way.

An invitation is extended to all ladies to attend the Ladies auxiliary picnic July 22 at the shelter in the forest preserves on the north side of Lake ave., also an entrance off River rd. Bring the kids and your lunch basket and we can all eat together, potluck style. The auxiliary will furnish coffee, pop and ice cream. All children must be accompanied by their mothers. Games for the ladies will be played after the lunch.

Clerk Favors County Control Of Water, Sewage, Drainage, Health

County Clerk Richard J. Daley this week came out for a Cook County Public Service Authority to handle all services essential to all citizens of the county, such as water, sewage, drainage, and health services.

"There is no reason why taxpayers should not benefit from pooling costs where the services do not or should not involve politics," Daley said. "Millions could be saved.

"In some villages where Chicago water is used, the price to the user is double or triple that to Chicagoans. Lake Michigan water could be supplied more efficiently to all residents of Cook county through such an authority.

"Draining of one area, also, will sometimes cause flooding in another. A county-wide drainage system would consolidate the many small ones, some of which do not operate, as well as the mosquito abatement districts, thus reducing the number of taxing bodies.

"The success of our county government in providing facilities like the county hospital, Oak Forest home for the indigent aged, and highways, is an example of what can be done."

Saying he spoke from his experience in county affairs, Daley asserted such a plan would not reduce the independence of municipal authorities.

"It is not designed to take over local governmental functions, but only to coordinate basic services which affect all the people of Cook county."

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

When school is out, teacher turns over her job as baby sitter during school hours to the parents. Mothers who have been relatively free of responsibilty for Johnny's activities during the school year, should now go on the full time job of keeping the youngsters in hand; of disciplining and directing their activities.

Many parents turn their children loose during summer months, asking only that they stay out of sight except at meal time and at night. Their desire to escape the responsibility of child raising is understandable, but is definitely not good for the child.

* * *

CHILDREN SHOULD learn to consider play time as an earned privilege. They should be required to shoulder responsiblities at home. They should have work to do. Junior should take over the task of keeping the lawn mowed, cleaning the basement, working in the garden, helping with farm work, washing windows for a portion of each day, and freedom should come as a reward for discharging duties well, not as a right. Sis should take over washing and wiping the dishes, helping clean house and prepare meals, At least half of each day should be spent in active participation in home duties.

But if children have responsibilities to their parents and their home, parents have like responsibilities to their children. There should be family picnics, wienie roasts, parties for the children's friends. The family should attend services as a group at least twice each month.

* * *

IT IS ONLY by group participation in family activities that unity between parents and children can be kept up. If children get the feeling that their parents are interested only in getting them out of their sight and are not interested in their activities and problems, they will not confide in them nor seek their guidance and advice about their lives. A "Don't bother me" attitude on the part of parents often starts their children on the wrong path.

I have talked with children confidentially about such things, and I got the tip for this article from some of them. A child's "my parents don't care about me" attitude is not only a common one but a dangerous one as well.

In the Future

A hand-sized spray-gun fires porcelain material through an acetylene torch onto hot steel, fusing it to the metal . . . Plastic pipe makes it possible for the home plumber to cut and fit his own lawn-sprinkling system . . . Planes may ride more smoothly with an air shock-absorber, consisting of a gadget attached to a wing-strut and flexing like a spring . . . A funnel fitting the top of a gallon can makes it easier to load paint into roller troughs or spray-gun jars.

Central YMCA Classes

The Central YMCA summer schools begin a full schedule of day and evening classes on June 22 at 19 S. LaSalle st. The Central YMCA high school, the only accredited high school in the Loop, offers opportunities for employed men and women to complete their secondary school education. The Summer term is especially designed to help high school students make up courses or gain extra credits, since all work completed receives full credit toward a high school diploma.

Oehler Picked Head Of State Funeral Group

Walter C. Oehler, owner of the funeral home at Lee and Perry sts., Des Plaines, was elected president of the Illinois Funeral Director's association at the organization's 73rd annual convention in the Conrad Hilton hotel this week.

Other officers are from downstate.

How to Reduce

Reducing is really very simple. All you have to do it memorize these two words: "No Thanks"—and use them.

Consult

Wally Kirchhoff

For the Answer to this Question

"There are six times more thefts than fires in homes," says a magazine article. Would personal belongings stolen from the home or garage, taken from a restaurant, or from a cabin or hotel while traveling, or by a hold-up man, all be covered by a Residence Theft policy?

About Your Health

"Stroke" is a term commonly applied to a condition within the skull, often resulting in paralysis or unconsciousness or both. The true term is apoplexy or cerebral vascular accident and refers to the sudden rupture of a blood vessel, causing a cerebral hemorrhage, or the development of a clot in a blood vessel, which is a cerebral thrombosis.

Basically, the most common underlying cause is arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries within the skull. A type of fat is formed in the wall of the blood vessel which causes a narrowing and weakening of the wall. If the narrowing is too marked, then blood flow is slowed down, resulting in inadequate nourishment to the brain. Then again the blood supply might be completely cut off by the formation of a clot or thrombus inside the vessel.

* * *

THE VICTIM of a stroke usually has symptoms of an impending attack. There may be a "pins-and-needles" sensation in an arm and a leg on the same side, which quickly goes away, or there may be a sudden or gradual weakness of an extremity, which is short in duration. There may also be some thickness of the tongue and difficulty in pronouncing words for a few minutes or hours.

On the other hand when a cerebral thrombosis is responsible for the "stroke," the same symptoms may be present, but differ in that the patient takes a longer time to recover. If a hemmorrhage develops, however, a severe headache is a common characteristic, which is the only symptomatic warning. If the hemorrhage is within the brain itself, and is extensive, the patient may never awaken. If the damage is not too severe, the patient may awaken hours or days later to find himself unable to move certain muscles, or, in some cases, to speak.

* * *

HE MAY HAVE various other disabilities, depending on the particular area of the brain involved.

TAX FACTS

By George Mahin, Executive Secretary Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

More than 100 million dollars in increased costs for public charity programs for the next two years is involved in bills now before the Illinois house of representatives, according to estimates obtained from the Illinois public aid commission. Most of these bills came flying out of the house public aid committee last week with only four opposing votes.

Under present law, old age indigents who own the home in which they live are permitted to keep that home as long as they live, but when they die the state has a claim against the property up to the amount of money paid to them for old age assistance. House bill 107 on second reading in the House would repeal the law giving the state the right to a claim on such property. This would mean that the taxpayers, who supported the old age indigents, couldn't recover from the property any of the money that enabled these old people to live, while the heirs, who contributed nothing, would benefit. The state recovered $1,177,181 from such claims during the last calendar year.

* * *

EVEN MORE important, it has also been clearly demonstrated through experiences of other states that the power to recover from the estates of old age indigents keeps a lot of cases off the old age assistance rolls. In many cases the heirs will support these old people to keep the state from having a claim against the property after the old people die. California has no lien law or recovery provision, and 30.5% of all the people over 65 in California are receiving public aid; in neighboring Missouri, 32.2%; and in Michigan, 19.2%. In Illinois, which has a recovery law, only 14.2% of those over 65 are receiving public aid at taxpayers' expense. Assuming H. B. 107 should pass and that Illinois would fare no worse than Michigan, the increase in cases would increase costs by an estimated $38,000,000 for the next 2 years. Add the loss from recoveries under present law of around $2,350,000 for the next two years. The result — H. B. 107, if enacted would mean increased costs of over 40 million dollars. H. B. 533, on first reading in the house, is the same as H. B. 107.

House bill 603, on third reading in the house, provides that payment by the state to any old age indigent must include an allowance for food of at least $1.15 per day. Food allowances now are based on costs in the area of the various foods that provide the diet determined to be nutritionally adequate. The IPAC estimates that passage of this bill would increase costs by 28 million dollars for the next 2 years.

* * *

H. B. 532, on first reading in the house, would fix minimum monthly aid payments to indigent aged at $50 each if married, at $60 if single, and apparently would nullify present legal requirements for support from relatives able to pay and also the consideration of other income in determination of need. This would result in the probable loss of federal aid, would increase costs of aid for the indigent aged program by an estimated 40 million dollars a biennium.

H. B. 67 on second reading in the House would increase maximum state aid for burial of indigent veterans from $150 to $250, would set the precedent for similar increases in other public aid programs, would cost an estimated $300,000 for the next biennium. H. B. 459 on second reading would eliminate family responsibility for support of the blind, would increase costs by from $300,000 to $500,000 (if the family is financially able to provide support, why should John Q. Public have to?) H. B. 868 on second reading would increase the maximum monthly old age assistance payment, would cost an estimated $400,000 for the biennium. S. B. 371 on first reading in the House would do the same thing for the blind as H. B. 868 for the aged, would cost an estimated $42,000 for two years.

Kill Rent Control In Libertyville

Village trustees voted unanimously to petition the federal government for an end to controls following a public hearing held in village hall.

Nearly 40 persons attended the hearing, and landlords, private citizens and representatives of property and real estate groups urged the board to remove controls. Not a single voice was raised in favor of controls, although 60 mimeographed postal cards had been received by the trustees asking continuation.

Glenview Refuses to Waive School Permit

The Glenview school board asked village trustees to waive the cost of a building permit for the new junior high school so they can buy a few more things for the building.

School board president William Stammer appeared with other members to ask if the $1100 permit could be waived, with the school district paying only actual costs of inspection.

Village president Elmer Palmgren and trustee Al Hasse said it was unfair to ask village taxpayers who reside outside district 34 to pay these costs.

Heads Christian Science

Annual Meeting Of Christian Scientists Held Before 7,500

The practical value of spiritual understanding in daily life was the keynote as more than 7,500 Christian Scientists from throughout the world met Monday for the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

A special message from the Christian Science board of directors told the gathering materialism not only is being challenged, but is yielding increasingly, to the impact of spiritual enlightenment.

Bearing witness to this were incidents of Christian Science healing read at the meeting which included total recovery from a severe case of poliomyelitis, abdominal cancer, rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart diagnosed as incurable, dislocated hips thought beyond recovery, and accident injuries pronounced fatal.

Through prayerful living of pure Christianity, the directors said, "painless progress can be made by the individual and by humanity as a whole."

Named president of The Mother Church for the coming year was Mrs. Grace F. Cudworth of Boston, a Christian Science practitioner active in the healing almost 50 years. Her term of office is for one year.

Reports on the world-wide activities of the denomination, which has branches throughout the U. S. and in some 40 other countries, were made by key officials.

Expenditure of approximately one million dollars for charitable purposes during the year was reported by Roy Garrett Watson, treasurer. He added that individual Christian Scientists voluntarily contributed more than $70,000 for flood relief in Europe, and that The Mother Church received over one million dollars in gifts from members and friends.

Strengthening of the denomination's work with young people was reported in several fields.

The camp welfare department announced the opening of a British branch to serve Christian Scientists stationed with the armed forces in Hong Kong, Malaya, Singapore, Egypt, Gibraltar and other points.

Officials announced that 34 new branches of The Mother Church were established during the year. They included branches in Casablanca, Morocco; Apeldoorn, the Netherlands, and several in Germany.

New translations of certain of the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, into Swedish, Dutch, Greek, and Russian, were announced.

Lecturer Appointed

Arnold H. Exo of Chicago has been appointed a Christian Science lecturer.

New Diesels Arrive

More than half of the suburban trains on the Wisconsin division of the Chicago & North Western railroad are now drawn by diesel locomotives.

Many of these trains begin and end their runs at Barrington. A few go on to Crystal Lake, and one or two to Harvard. In all, 14,375 miles of suburban service are operated weekly on this division.

The delivery of nine new 1,500 horsepower diesel locomotives purchased by the railroad for suburban service is in progress.

The new diesels are being assigned to all three suburban divisions in such a way that each will perform the maximum mileage possible. When all are in use, 8,005 miles, or 55.6 per cent, of suburban service on the Wisconsin division will be operated by diesel power. Sixteen of the 21 Sunday suburban trains will be dieselized.

ARLINGTON TEAMS END YEAR WITH .514 WIN PERCENTAGE

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

WE ARE GLAD to see real baseball is underway in Palatine as a summer sport. Sunday a newly organized team of ex-high school athletes played their first game and lost to Lake Zurich, a community in which baseball has flourished for many years. We hope some organizations in the community gives the boys the backing they need to continue playing.

This is an all Palatine team in contrast to the soft ball teams which have been representing Palatine in recent years with only a handful of local talent in their lineups.

The park layout is being revised to permit baseball. Both the Junior Legion and the Palatine independent team will play games there this season. This edition has the schedule for the Junior Legion teams of this district with play opening this coming week end.

* * *

INVERNESS GOLF CLUB is planning a lot of interesting competition on special days during the season which is well underway. The club has a junior program for girls Thursday, special events for the ladies every Wednesday and a variety of tournaments for the men.

The course was never in better shape and the tricky greens which make Inverness such a sporty layout are in excellent condition after being badly burned last year.

Stanley Arendt is on the job as pro again and it won't be too many years before he will have a 30th anniversary season at the club. Inverness was a nine hole layout owned by the Cudahy Packing Company when he started to work there. President of the club this year is James "Bud" McCartney.

Palatine high school has been indebted to Inverness and owner Arthur T. McIntosh for the chance to have their golf matches, team practices, and conference tournament at Inverness without charge. Golf at Palatine high has thrived and been very successful due to the opportunities offered and the interest shown by the McIntosh organization.

ONE OF THE ANSWERS to the success of Bensenville in recent years in Northwest conference baseball is the fine summer program carried on in the community with Little League, Pony League, and Junior Legion during the summer months.

Bensenville was not expected to repeat this year in Northwest baseball, but the fine training of the boys coming up through the three stages in community summer ball kept the Bisons on top and will continue to make them strong contenders.

* * *

ELA-VERNON'S disappointing season, after a fine start, can be laid partly to having too many postponed games to be made up in a short span at the end of the season. The Bears played five games, or half their schedule, in a period of seven days and lost them all.

Another factor which came to light at the end of the season was that some of the boys in midseason started playing softball two nights a week and their hitting became nil after that.

* * *

WINNER OF A GOLF NUMERAL at Coe is John Peters of Arlington Heights . . . Track manager's letter at Knox went to David Kurtz of Arlington . . . Final baseball figures from DeKalb college give Arlington's Bob Baker a 0-1 record on the mound, with his only hit of the few times at bat a homer with nobody on . . . He fanned 21, walked 17, permitted 36 hits in 31 innings . . . Also on the team was Gene Wasco, playing with the Arlington Redwings this summer.

Many of the DeKalb college team are playing baseball in Aurora this summer, as is Lloyd Meyer of Arlington Heights.

Seven members of York's above average baseball team were graduated this week . . . State cop's flashing red light moving west on Kirchhoff road Monday morning preceding the starting gate was sure sign of racing about to start at Arlington . . . Ralph Steben, former Wauconda track mentor now at Bloom, saw his boys capture both varsity and frosh-soph titles in the South Surbrban meet . . . Riverside - Brookfield will be the fourth school in the holiday basketball tournament next winter, along with St. Edward, Proviso, and Crystal Lake in the latter's new fieldhouse.

Northwestern university not only has Glen Close of Elgin and Hebron's Ken Spooner, but has landed New Trier's Jack Stilwell . . . Roger Pryor, Wauconda graduate, became the first freshman to win a track letter at DePauw, pole vaulting 12' 6".

Palatine Nets 4, Ela 3 In Annual Selections Here

Bensenville's Northwest conference champs dominate the selections for the all-league baseball team selected by Paddock Publications with five players picked on an all-conference squad of 14 players. Palatine had four players named, Ela-Vernon three, and Grayslake two.

The top pitchers were Dave Sloan of Bensenville and George Ogurek of Palatine. Sloan, a lefty with good control, won seven games and lost one for an excellent record. He had a curve ball and was never in danger except in his loss at Ela where the Bears got all but one of their hits in one inning to win the game with five runs. Dave Sloan was top hitter as well as top pitcher with a phenomenal .594 batting average.

* * *

GEORGE OGUREK, a transfer from Northern Wisconsin, won six and lost one for Palatine. Like Sloan his loss came in one big inning when Bensenville scored 10 runs but errors by his team mates set off his exit from the game. In his six victories Ogurek was never touched for more than five hits. His best pitch was a low outside curve ball.

Ogurek and Paul Schrage tied at Palatine for the honor of most valuable player but Schrage was selected by the conference coaches to represent the league in the Chicago high school all star game June 27.

* * *

PAUL SCHRAGE was the lone repeater on the all-conference team. Schrage at third base had a fine year with a .385 batting average. In six spring and summer seasons in the last three years Schrage has never batted under .350. He also served as a relief pitcher.

Joe Jankers was one of the finest players on the Bensenville team and got the first string catching assignment with Stan Hauseman of Palatine his understudy. Jankers was one of the best pitchers in the loop but Coach Tom Meneguin needed him more as a receiver. He did pitch and win two league games and for the season hit .320.

Hauseman came fast late in the season for Palatine and was second in the league in batting with a .462 mark.

* * *

BILL SIEBERT of Grayslake and Don Prouty of Ela-Vernon made the squad as pitchers. Siebert, overworked due to lack of relief on the mound, did not win many games but he played in the outfield when not hurling and hit a lusty .371 including five home runs. Prouty won three and lost three with his best pitching early in the campaign.

Bensenville was strong down the middle with Herb Brown, a .378 hitter, at second and Don Tuchscherer, who hit .286 and fielded brilliantly at short stop. Palatine's great all round star, Paul Schrage, was a unanimous choice at third while "Tinker" Meyer who played five different positions for the Pirates and hit .365 was named for first base. First base was a weak position this year and that is why Meyer, who played most of the time in the outfield was shifted to this position.

Paul Runkle, Ela's best ball player, gets the nod for utility infielder. He was a fine short stop.

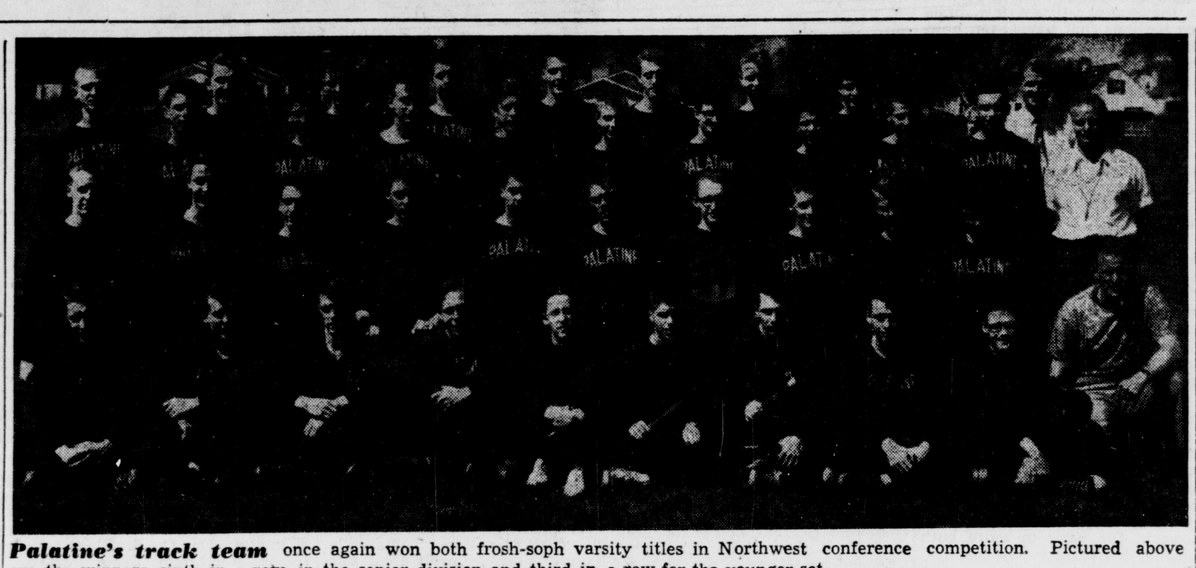

* * *

NORMAN KOZAK who fielded well and hit .304 won the left field position with Dee Busch, a .280 hitter and outstanding ball hawk in center. John Hook who played outfield and third base and hit .373 is named for right field.

Coaches at Grant and Antioch failed to nominate any of their team members for consideration for the all-conference team.

Arlington Heights junior Legion baseball team will hold its first tryouts this Thursday evening, June 11, at 6 o'clock at Recreation park. All youngsters 17 years of age and under during 1953 are eligible for the team.

Again this year the team is jointly sponsored by Merle Guild Post 208, American Legion, and George C. Poole, Inc., local Ford dealer. Managing the team will be Lloyd Meyer of Arlington Heights.

AT PALATINE in a practice game Monday night, Park Ridge won a 4-2 decision. The local squad is coached by high school mentor Claude Bailey.

Personnel of the team is very uncertain at this time. Only Roger Kolze of the high school varsity nine is on the squad, most of the others being too old for Junior Legion ball.

* * *

MT. PROSPECT personnel of its representative is also unknown, though first tryouts were held Sunday night. Gene Dassonville is coaching the team, and is planning another tryout before opening game Saturday.

Saturday's games find Heights playing host to Park Ridge at 4:00, Palatine playing host to Franklin Park at 3:30, and Mt. Prospect traveling to Portage Park for a 4:30 contest.

Sunday afternoon Palatine plays at Mt. Prospect at 2:30 and Arlington journeys to Franklin Park at the same time.

BIG PROBLEM for Mt. Prospect team is to obtain one or more sponsors to supply the uniforms.

The Junior Legion program provides a split schedule with the first half slated to end July 8. District, county, state and national contests follow, along with second half competition.

Harvey Softball Squad Downs Palatine, 3-1

Palatine's softball aggregation lost their first home game of the season Sunday night, bowing to Harvey Moose under the lights, 3-1. A good crowd turned out for the initial encounter under the lights, many of them taking home gifts donated by Palatine merchants.

Ned Wickersham, slugging first baseman for Palatine, had three hits, with catcher John Buell and second baseman Bob Lee each cashing once.

Sidell of Harvey hit a long home run in the eighth to put the game on ice. Harvey had three runs on six hits and one error, while Palatine scored only once on five hits and two miscues

* * *

THIS THURSDAY night Palatine travels to Great Lakes for a game with the sailors. The two squads will play a return match Sunday night, June 14, at Palatine Community park. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

More free gifts are slated to be given by Palatine merchants at all home games.

Husband and Wife Golf Tournament Sunday for Mt. Prospect Golf League

Annual husband and wife golf tournament of the Mt. Prospect twilight golf league is scheduled for this Sunday, June 14. The match will be a nine hole affair with a good number of attractive prizes offered.

The special handicapping will make it possible for the entrants to qualify for a prize whether they are good or bad golfers.

This is a fine opportunity for the wives to have a good time to meet the worthy opponents their husbands are always talking about.

Tee off time is 3:00 p.m. and the price is $2.50 per couple. The place, of course, is the Mt. Prospect country club. All members of the twilight league both Tuesday and Wednesday, are invited to compete.

Enters State Amateur Golf Tournament

The 23rd annual Illinois state amateur golf championship, sponsored by the Chicago district golf association, will be played over Bloomington (Ill.) country club, June 23 through 27. Larry Moller, 44 year old Quincy lumberman, will defend the state title he won last year at Quincy Country Club.

Competition will open with a thirty-six hole qualifying round, 18 holes Tuesday, June 23, and 18 holes Wednesday, to determine the 31 low scorers who will join Moller in the championship bracket.

Among early entries is F. J. Hertel, Inverness C. C.

O'Day Realtors First In Tuesday Division Mount Prospect Golf

George O'Day Realty climbed to first place last week in the Tuesday division of the Mt. Prospect twilight league. To do this, the O'Day team picked on Wille Lumber & Fuel and won nine points.

Evidently this tough outfit is serving notice on the rest of the teams that they like to be on top and intend to stay there. They have never been below third place.

O'Day is closely followed by Mt. Prospect Electric, which won 6½ points from Commissioner Busse and slipped out of first by a narrow margin.

Tield for third are Mt. Prospect Jewelers and Commissioner Busse.

Larry Spalding, "B" player from Winkelman's Shell Service team shot a 38, which with his handicap gave him a low net of 29. Very good, Larry.

Birdies were scored on the 13th hole by Larry Spalding, Al Shock and Frank Jantac. Bob Lange, home from college, celebrated with a birdie on the 9th. Van Middlesworth picked the 15th for his bird, and Bob Whitely and Fred Jilek birdied the 16th. Howard Bersted birdied the 18th.

Wheeling Amvets and Mt. Prospect Merchants Split Little League

The most interesting and exciting game of the Little League season was played last Wednesday at Wheeling, when the Amvet team won a hard fought game from the Mt. Prospect Lions nine, 9-8. Wheeling jumped off to a 4-1 first inning lead and never relinquished it until the first of the sixth when the Lions tallied five to forge ahead, 8-6. The Wheeling boys, however, came right back with four hits in a row, a fielder's choice, and three runs, to win.

The Mt. Prospect Lions, with this loss still in mind, welcomed the Amvets to their diamond Monday night, June 8, then lost their sociability and dished out a 20-5 lacing to Wheeling. Poor fielding by the Amvets, along with powerful batting by the Lions, make up the story.

The Monday night, June 8, Mt. Prospect Merchant — Wheeling Chamber of Commerce game was called of due to wet grounds in Wheeling.

Redwings Drub Macomba, 16-2

Arlington Redwings found an easy mark Sunday afternoon when they ground out a 16-2 decision over Macombo club of Chicago. The Heights semi-pro aggregation was never in trouble, getting two runs in both the first and second inning, picking up five in the third, then going on from there.

Bill Lang pitched good ball for the Redwings, allowing just three hits, striking out four and walking two in seven innings. Arlington's Bob Baker twirled the final two frames.

This Sunday, June 14, the Redwings play host to Forest Park at Recreation park, starting at 3 p. m.

* * *

FIRST ERROR by the enemy put Connie Hernbrott on first to start things for the Redwings, Gail Bach doubled, scoring Hernbrott. After two outs Sarena singled Bach home for a 2-0 lead.

In the second a walk to Willie, single by Schiewe and double by Lang brought in two more.

Five runs scored in the third on four singles, two errors, hit batsman and three stolen bases. The Redwings tallied four more in the fourth on two singles, four errors and a walk.

* * *

TWO SAFETIES and an error brought in two more scores for the locals in the sixth, making the count 15-0 before Macombo drew first blood in the seventh.

Top hitter for the local nine was Hernbrott with two hits and two walks in six times at the plate. He scored three times.

Joliet Bulldozers steam rolled Palatine softballers Tuesday night at Joliet, 5-0, with Joliet twirler Domnick pitching one hit ball. Jim Santucci hit the only safety for the locals.

Joliet scored its five runs on seven hits. Domnick was rated Illinois' champ pitcher.

Games on T-V

Nine to twelve year old kids in the boys' major league are now romping across Chicagoland television screens every Monday night direct from Thillens stadium, Devon and Kedzie.

With ace sportscaster, Jack Brickhouse at the mike, WGN-TV is bringing these games to the viewing audience every Monday at 7:00 p.m. throughout the summer season.

Expect Better Mark Next Year For Cardinals

If ever the outlook in sports was looking up, it is at Arlington Heights township high school. With the second complete year of competition in the West Suburban league now history, the Cardinals racked up 113 victories against 107 losses and three ties.

That's better than .500 ball but the year's record isn't as bright as that sounds.

Varsity football and basketball teams had poor records which were offset by spring sports, bringing up the varsity average to 49-60-1 overall. The gridders won just 2 of 9 games, the cagers just 7 of 23 contests. In tennis it was 4-9, gymnastics 1-4, baseball 7-9, and cross country 4-5. Wrestling broke even, 7-7, while the track squad was undefeated in duals, 3-0.

* * *

BUT PROSPECTS are definitely better in the varsity division with much better records set by frosh-soph and freshman squads at Arlington high. The frosh-sophs racked up 42 wins compared to 26 losses in seven sports, the frosh 19-8 in five activities.

And what's more, most of the regulars will be back next fall in almost all sports.

Most of the football squad will return. There'll be a full crew of six footers for basketball who are bound to offset the expected ability of one outstanding "shorty."

* * *

AND IN SPRING sports the veterans will be back almost en masse. In golf, for instance, only Bob LeMay of the first five will be gone, with Pederson also missing. Of the first ten boys this past year, four were juniors, two were sophomores, and two of the top four were freshmen. Six other frosh made up the team.

In baseball, only Eakins, Hesch and Thompson are gone. While all three were stalwarts of the squad, the complete mound staff, so important in high school ball, will be back.

Mike Shanklin, Dave Ryden and Ed Linneman head the juniors which comprised the rest of the squad, with the other twirler, Wayne Brumm, the only sophomore on the team this past season.

* * *

VETERANS galore will be back next year in track, though several were not lettermen. Coach Attis will have state champ Dick Winterbauer back in the weights; John Glueckert, Dick Michalski and Bob Ellis in the hurdles; Bob Rankine and Dave Aldrich in the 880; Ellis and Ed Friesendorf in the 440; Michalski in the pole vault; Donald Drever in the mile; Don Waterman, Bob Frisk and Carroll Werner in the sprints; and Werner in the broad jump.

Coming up from the frosh-sophs will be Wayne Mueller and Jack Johnston in the weights, Ray Hornbostel in the 440, John Sheppard in the 880, Griffith Pritchard in the pole vault and high jump, and Dick Malcomson and Harrison Kennicott in the sprints.

Biggest loss to the track team is the departure of Tom Bowersox, Dick McAuliffe, Don Rash, Jim Whitelaw and Marshall Dahlstrom.

* * *

HOW SOON Arlington will make a respectable showing in tennis circles is hard to say. Other West Suburban schools have net pros conducting year 'round programs which make competition extremely tough.

Only one of the regular group playing this year for Coach Ken Schaller, though, was graduated this year. He is Mike Dutton.

Prospect Heights Little League Fills Six Teams

Little League baseball is making its debut in Prospect Heights this summer and from present indications will command a major share of the sports activities spotlight in the community.

Under the direction of Manager Ed Figahs, a six team league being played every Saturday afternoon and Tuesday evening at the corner of Elmhurst and McDonald roads. The Saturday program consists of a double header with the first game starting at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday games start at 4 p. m.

Through courtesy of Carlton A. Smith a new backstop has been ordered and should be available in approximately a week. Also, the attractive new scoreboard at the field is a gift of the Prospect Heights Business Men's association.

* * *

LITTLE LEAGUE rules prevent first year teams from being eligible for the Little World's series held annually in Williamsport, Penn., and consequently the boys will be playing in a more or less unofficial capacity this year. By next year, however, it is anticipated a franchise will be acquired and every team will be completely uniformed.

The Little League movement has spread like wildfire in the past two years and the support received thus far in Prospect Heights has been decidedly encouraging. Nevertheless, the boys feel they would like to build a bigger and better rooting section. In the comparatively few practice sessions that have been held, Manager Figahs has brought about some surprising improvements in the players' abilities.

* * *

A SUNDAY, June 7, double header at the Prospect Heights Little League field, Elmhurst and McDonald roads, saw the Cardinals beat the Red Sox 16 to 0, while the White Sox nipped the Phillies 6 to 2.

Don Haley, Cardinal pitcher, held his opponents to one hit and led his team's batting attack with a lusty home run and two triples. In the White Sox-Philly game, Dale Hedberg held the Phillies to three hits, one a home run by Dale Johnson, plus two triples by John Marxen.

In a game played May 26, the Cubs beat the Phillies 4 to 2. Les Vaughan came up with a sparkling pitching performance in this game, a no-hitter, while striking out 17 Phillies. The two runs scored when Billy Martin walked twice and then stole all the bases in the park to score both runs for his team.

Standing of the teams as of June 8:

	W	L
Cardinals	2	0
Cubs	1	0
White Sox	1	1
Red Sox	1	1
Braves	0	1
Phillies	0	2

Inspired Van Driel's Smash Bankers, 7-3, in Wed. Mt. Prospect Golf

An inspired Van Driel's drug team, perennial cellar occupant of the Mt. Prospect twilight golf league Wednesday night division, came through in traditional underdog fashion last Wednesday night with a smashing 7 to 3 victory over the league-leading Mt. Prospect Bank team. So determined were the Pharmicists the victory might have been a 10-point rout but for the play of an alternate, Jim Viger, who with the aid of an amazing handicap scored the Bankers' only 3 points.

Fortunately for the bank there were no outstanding team victories by any other contestant. Second place Busse Motors was held to 4 points by a revitalized Mt. Prospect Bowling Lanes team, and third place Hook's Nursery to 4½ points by Moler's Barber Shop. As a result the league standings remain virtually unchanged from last week.

ABC Prizes Paid In Record Time, Turnout

The American Bowling Congress' "Golden Jubilee" tournament came to an end May 24. It was both the largest and longest tournament in history. There were more than 43,000 participants, 3,180 teams and it took 93 days to complete the schedule.

Outstanding among the records established was the $573,860 prize fund which is the largest amount of money collected for a prize list in any sports tournament. ABC office employees at the national headquarters in Milwaukee also broke a record when they processed the 22,000 checks to distribute the prize money in less than twelve days. All checks were in the mail by June 5 according to Frank K. Baker, ABC secretary.

The Pfeiffer Beer team, Detroit, won the open team championship and it was the second straight ABC victory for Lou Sielaff's team which won the title last year under the E & B Beer banner. Pfeiffers scored 3181 this year and became the first team in ABC history to score two 3100 totals. The team posted a 3115 score last year. The 3181 was second only to the record 3234 posted by the Birk Brothers team of Chicago in 1938.

* * *

ONLY ONE OTHER team has repeated for the ABC crown and that was under similar circumstances. The Barry-Ketteler team, Chicago, won the 1915 title and then after changing to the Commodore Barry five, repeated in 1916 with a one man change in the lineup. Pfeiffers had Don Carter bowling this year in place of Bill Bunetta who was in the lineup last year and is still a member of the team.

The Pfeiffer team also won the coveted Frank Pasdeloup trophy for team all-events as the five men accumulated a 9479 total in the team, doubles and singles events. This total is second only to the 9506 posted by the Detroit Strohs in 1951 at St. Paul.

The former team match game champions smashed the all-time cashing record as their total winnings amounted to $5,743.76. This beats their own mark of $4,173.30 set last year in Milwaukee. Pfeiffer member Fred Bujack barely missed the individual mark for money earned in one ABC when he totaled $1,953.50. The individual record of $1,965 was collected by Cleveland's Steve Nagy last year.

Midget Auto Racing At Soldier Field

Many of the nation's most famous race car drivers will be converging on Chicago this week for the A. A. A. national championship midget auto race in Soldier Field Saturday night, June 13.

Included among the entries already received are Gene Hartley of Roanoke, Ind., who twice hit the wall at the Indianapolis Speedway, Art Cross of La Porte, Ind., who finished second in the "500," Jack Bates of South Bend, the 1953 Chicago indoor champion, Vic Carter, Toledo, Ohio; Leroy Warriner and Forrest Parker, Indianapolis; Frank Burnay, Milwaukee; Jim Rathmann, Miama, Fla.; Ralph Pratt, Detroit, Mich.; Johnny Roberts and Jimmy Knight, Chicago.

Stock car racing in Soldier Field continues on its twice a week basis with the major league of pleasure car racing every Wednesday and Sunday night on the lake front.

Qualifying for all race events begins at 6:30 p. m. and the first race scheduled for 8:30 p. m.

Carroll Joins Arlington Farms For Polo Match

Arlington Farms Polo club will attempt to improve on its season's record of one and one when it meets the Blind Brook polo club of New York in an International polo league game at Arlington Farms-CYO, Buckley rd. at Rte. 21, Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

A special attraction Sunday will be the dedication of the Libertyville polo plant by Bishop Bernard J. Shiel, founder and director of the Catholic Youth Organization which recently purchased the property from Leonard M. Bernard.

Half-time entertainment will be presented by the famous Catholic Youth Organization marching band and other specialties.

* * *

ARLINGTON Farms broke into the win column Sunday with a thrilling 10 to 9 overtime victory over the Milwaukee Shamrocks, last year's National 20 Goal tourney winners.

Red Grant drove home the winning goal after Burly Jack Ryan had sent the game into overtime with a solo dash half the length of the field to knot the score as the bell sounded ending the regular time.

Arlington Farms will be at full strength for Sunday's encounter with Al Parsells and his eastern teammates with the return of Dashing Del Carroll, who missed the first two games because of a hand injury.

* * *

CARROLL WAS a standout when Arlington Farms was bowling over all competition during 1948, 1949, and 1950 and followers of the team are counting on him to return the club to polo heights.

Teaming with Carroll on the offensive line will be Chuck Bernard, who scored three goals in Sunday's victory, while Billy Ylvisaker and Jack Ryan will man the defensive line against the Blind Brook shotmakers.

Parsells, one of the all-time greats of polo, reportedly has a powerful club with which he hopes to regain for the east some of its former polo lustre.

Northbrook Sports Club Directors Active

Since formation in 1947, and purchase of the trap shooting layout at County Line and Pfingsten roads, the club has developed a year-round program, including bowling league, ice fishing derby, probably twilight golf and archery, in addition to trap shooting open Saturday afternoons from 1 to 5 p. m. and Sundays from 10:00 to 6:00.

Spinning Gaining Popularity Over Bait Casting For Both Ladies And The Youngsters

by DICK FISHER

It's becoming more evident every day the trend is toward the use of spinning equipment in preference to the bait casting rod or even the fly rod. Fishing schools find it a must as nearly everyone wants to try out a spinning rod.

The attraction becomes even greater when it is found that nearly anyone can easily use spinning equipment, even youngsters of 8 or 10 and wives who usually stay home after the first backlashes on a casting reel.

There is no backlash, that bane of all casting rod fishermen, to spinning. It is possible to throw a loop or tangle in the line if it gets loose on the spool but the spinning line will work trouble free for longer than the bait casting line. The spinning outfit will do about everything a fly rod will do too with a great deal more ease than the usual fly rod novice can ever hope from his fly rod.

* * *

WHEN SPINNING first began to be popular, the general conception was that it might be easier to learn but one could never be as accurate. Now we find that spinning baits can be tosed just as far and as accurately as any casting rod bait.

A heavy fish can make his runs without skinning your knuckles, the line can't break as the drag can be set to maximum pressure so that the fish will take out line regardless of how fast you reel. This feature allows for the use of much lighter weight line making for greater casting pleasure.

Much lighter baits can be cast with the spinning rod giving the operator a wider chance of taking varying sized fish without first scaring them to death with a mountainous splash. The spinner can cast much longer without tiring.

Wheeling Pony Leaguers Lose to Morton Grove

The Wheeling Merchants Pony League baseball team played its first game of the season Monday evening against Morton Grove and came out on the short end of the score, 8-1.

The next scheduled game will be played in Northbrook Friday, June 12, beginning at 6:30 p. m.

About nineteen boys are competing for positions on the team and at present very few are sure of their positions. Boys thirteen years old and over, and who will not be fifteen years old before August 1 of this year are eligible.

Boys qualified as to age who would like to try out for the team should contact Don Welflin at Wheeling 11 immediately.

Make Two Lettermen Pitchers, Bisons Have Championship Season

Starting the year with just two veterans, yet having a banner year in baseball, that seems to be the accepted fare at Bensenville high school where the Bisons have just completed a championship season under the guidance of Coach Tom Meneguin. There were just two lettermen available last March. Joe Jankers had played second and Dave Sloan was in the outfield.

This year Meneguin made both boys pitchers and opened the season.

Sloan twirled 56 innings for a 7-2 record, and ERA of 1.92. Jankers was on the mound 20 innings for a 2-0 slate, and ERA of 1.97. What more need be said?

Pitching Records

	IP	H	SO	BB	ERA	W-L
Sloan	56	34	81	40	1.92	7-2
Jankers	20	10	26	5	1.97	2-0

* * *

NOT KNOWING pitchers are not supposed to hit, Dave Sloan went right on pounding the ball like an outfielder. He hit safely 19 times in 32 times at bat for an outstanding .594 average. He also stole base seven times.

Jankers also failed to play the part of a twirler, getting eight hits in 25 times at bat. He was walked 15 times, tops on the squad.

Home run leader was sophomore Herb Brown with four round trippers in 14 hits of 37 times at bat. His average was a nice .378.

* * *

MOUND STAFF and outfield graduated this year. Both Sloan and Jankers were seniors. Outfielders catching their last flies for the Bisons were Ron LaFata, Norman Kozak, Mel Yarke and Bob Bedgood. Short stop Dan Tuchscherer has also bid BCHS goodbye.

Gene Benhart will be back at third, Brown was only a sophomore at second, junior Eric Kellet played first. The team garnered 86 hits in 310 times at bat for a .277 average. The squad fanned 90 times, walked 57 times, and committed 30 errors.

The frosh-soph nine had a 4-3-1 record, defeating Palatine, Grayslake, Grant and Ela and tying Ela.

Widows' Benefits Of Both World Wars

The Illinois veterans commission has urged widows of World War I veterans who were disqualified from pension benefits due to income limitations to apply for 1953 payments if they anticipate an income below the set limitation.

Pension benefits are granted widows, who meet all qualifications, and whose income is less than $1,400 without dependents or $2,700 with dependents.

Eligible widows who file a statement of anticipated income may be placed on the pension rolls immediately.

Widows of World War II veterans, whose death was not service caused, but who was receiving or entitled to receive compensation at the time, may also qualify.

Additional information and application forms are available at the offices of IVC service officers throughout the state.

The Illinois veterans commission has advised veterans who formerly resided in Indiana that June 30 is the application deadline for Indiana's World War II bonus.

No Big Names but Regular Company at Chevy Chase this Year

The Chevy Chase summer theater swings into the drama spotlight Tuesday, June 16, when its 5th straight season gets underway. Unlike previous years, Chevy Chase will feature no big "names" throughout a 12-week series of varied presentations, but, instead, will offer an "ensemble company" comprised principally of outstanding local talent.

First production is F. Hugh Herbert's rollicking comedy, "For Love or Money."

Each Chevy Chase production will run for one week, with performances every night except Mondays. Matinees will be presented twice weekly, Wednesdays and Sundays.

Chevy Chase plays will be performed this season in a newly constructed tent-theater and producer-manager Carl Stohn calls the technique to be employed, "3-dimensional staging."

Top Hollywood Films At Film Festival

Thirty outstanding Hollywood films, winners of 28 critical awards, have been booked for the spring film festival, third in the series of great film festivals presented semi-annually by the downtown Clark theatre in Chicago. The special series begins Sunday, June 14, and continues through Sunday, June 28.

The pictures include 13 adapted from books, four from plays, and one from an Ernest Hemingway short story. All have been adjudged outstanding in at least one of several categories and most have been requested by Film Festival patrons, according to general manager Bruce Trinz, of the Clark.

In the Future

A plastic shelf for holding toothpaste, lipstick, shaving cream and such small items fastens in the family medicine chest with an adhesive mounting . . . A four-ounce microphone, with no wires attached, reports to recording mechanisms as much as 150 yards away . . . A new British machine swallows wood scraps and disgorges hardboard planks. It's available now in this country . . . A bin-shaped container for ground coffee holds three pounds, dispenses one tablespoonful at each turn of a handle . . . You can get a portable time switch to turn on a light in your house every night of your vacation to scare burglars, or put the air-conditioner to work just an hour before you get home.

'Ah, Wilderness!' Opens Showcase Theatre's Summer Season

On Tuesday, June 16th, Evanston's air conditioned Showcase theatre opens its first summer season with Eugene O'Neill's comedy, "Ah, Wilderness!" for a two-week run.

First of the five productions scheduled for the summer season, "Ah, Wilderness!" is considered one of Eugene O'Neill's best works.

Beginning Wednesday, June 17, Showcase theatre will offer Wednesday matinees at 2:30 p. m.

New Artists on College Camp Musical Schedule

Schedule of artists in the George Williams college summer music program at College camp, Wisconsin, has been changed with cancellation of the July 12 concert at Lake Geneva by the Philharmonic piano quartet.

Two artists who will perform that evening are Lois Marshall, dramatic soprano from Toronto, who made a great hit in her Town Hall debut last winter, and the brilliant young piano virtuoso, Eugene List.

Get High-Quality Sweet Corn All Season

Increasing use of hybrid sweet corn varieties increases the problem of getting a harvest for the table over the entire season, says C. Y. Arnold.

The vegetable crops specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture says the reason is that hybrids show more uniform maturity than the old open-pollinated varieties.

Spread the harvest over the entire season by selecting varieties that mature at different times, the specialist suggests.

* * *

ON THE average, Spancross matures in 68 days, Carmelcross in 74 days and Golden Cross Bantam in 82 days. Even if you planted all three of these varieties at the same time, you would get a difference of two weeks in maturity dates.

Cover the rest of the season with spaced plantings of a good midseason variety, Arnold says. Planting when the previous plants are two to three inches high is a better guide than planting so many days apart. Temperatures have too much effect on growth rates to make the latter method reliable.

* * *

INSTEAD OF drilling your sweet corn in rows across the garden, plant in hills three or four feet apart in each direction. Planting sweet corn in hills in blocks gives better pollination. A block of 9-16 hills makes a nice-sized planting for a family of four.

Best way to plant is to scoop out a hole about 1½ inches deep and fill with starter solution. Put in six seeds to a hill, cover with pulverized soil and firm over the seeds. After the corn has come up, thin each hill to the three strongest plants.

Farm Products Buy More Machinery Than In 1939

Farm commodities are worth more now in terms of machinery for the farm than they were in 1939 according to a survey made by Allis-Chalmers. The tractors and other equipment are greatly improved over 14 years ago, with greater work capacity engineered into them.

Charts shown are based on average prices during the first week of March, 1939 and 1953, using United States Department of Agriculture reported averages, and factory prices of machinery. Tractors, plows, and small combines are used for comparison as being typical machinery examples found most everywhere.

LAW on the FARM

Weeds Along Highways And Railroads

Illinois law requires that "the Commissioners of Highways — shall annually, at the proper season to prevent the spread of the same, destroy or cause to be destroyed, all cockleburs, Canada thistles, Russian thistles and all other kinds of thistles, or other noxious weeds, growing brush or plants growing upon all public roads other than state aid roads — within their respective towns or districts."

The Department of Public Works and Buildings or the county superintendent of highways shall by law "attend to the destruction of such weeds, thistles and plants upon all state aid roads." The law further provides that it is the duty of all highway officers to ". . .seasonably mow and keep down all weeds or other vegetation growing along the highways under their respective jurisdictions."

* * *

ILLINOIS LAW also requires railroad companies to exterminate noxious weeds growing on their right-of-ways and imposes a penalty for failing to do so. According to one Illinois court decision, a railroad cannot be penalized if it has made an honest effort to suppress noxious weeds.

It would appear that, under the power given electors at town meetings to prevent the introduction, growing and dissemination of Canada thistles or noxious weeds, townships could impose reasonable requirements on corporations and individuals relative to the destruction of such weeds.

The laws cited above are in the Illinois Revised Statues, chapter 38, sec. 90; chapter 121, sec. 150, and chapter 139, sec. 39.06.

Raindrops Hit Soil Like A-Bomb

A tiny raindrop may not seem like an A-bomb; but when it hits bare soil, it has almost the same effect.

E. D. Walker, soil conservationist in the University of Illinois college of agriculture, says millions of raindrops hit the soil during a storm. When they land, they splash tiny droplets of wet soil in every direction. Research men say that during a hard rain as much as 100 tons of soil may be bouncing up and down on each acre.

* * *

ILLINOIS records also show that in an average year 90% of the soil loss from cornfields occurs during May and June. And April, May and June are the months of heaviest rainfall.

Erosion on bare land is often tremendous. Soil is torn loose and washed away. Available plant food is lost. But when the soil is covered with a protective legume-grass mixture, loss by erosion is much lower.

* * *

WALKER SAYS tests have shown that on a 9% slope corn followed by winter wheat lost 240 times as much topsoil as well-established legume-grass pasture with the same slope.

Legume-grass crops bind the soil particles together and also provide cover to break the surprising force of falling raindrops. An inch of rain falling on one acre of land expends enough energy to plow 10 acres, Walker points out.

Less Comb—More Eggs

Hens with combs clipped close to the head when they were pullets laid 16 per cent more fall and winter eggs, it was found at the Wyoming Afton experiment station. Scientists say a hen's comb has a lot of exposed surface, and it takes a lot of feed to keep the comb warm. Capper's Farmer advises clipping combs close with a pair of scissors when pullets are 12 weeks old.

Inaccurate Scales Can Hurt Livestock Man

Live stock scales "mechanically dishonest" can rob live stock men of their profits on a group of animals.

Reports by state departments of agriculture indicated 11% of the scales tested during 1951 were inaccurate by 10% or more. These scales were located mostly at major markets where weighing is usually well supervised.

Improper maintenance causes most of these errors. A messy condition around the scale, dirt and dust, rocks or manure can wedge around the scale platform and throw the scales out of alignment.

Scales are not always perfectly accurate and there is usually a small tolerance permitted by most state laws. Some states, Missouri for example, tolerate an error of two-tenths of 1% (2 pounds per 1,000) while others, such as Utah, allows a full 1% or 10 pounds per 1,000.

Bug Killer Stick

If rain washes bug poisons and fungus killers off your plants, why not mix in some of the imitation ice creams in which most of the dairy food is replaced by substitutes, asks Capper's Farmer. An Iowa firm already is using the idea. It mixes imitation ice cream with its fungicide-fertilizer product and the mixture isn't washed off by rain.

Farm Supports Double In Year; To Stay 'til '55

Mounting steadily, the government's outlay of funds to back its farm price support program has more than doubled since May, 1952, according to the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago.

Behind this increase is the large harvest last fall and the falling world demand for U.S. farm products. Both have helped create an agricultural product surplus (at support prices) on the domestic scene.

In its monthly review, Business Conditions, the bank points out the rapid build-up of stocks comes during a period of good business. And since the original aim of the program was to protect farmers from depression prices, nationwide attention has centered on the need to overhaul current farm legislation. Yet the bank sees no important legislative changes on the horizon which will affect support practices before 1955.

* * *

REASONS GIVEN ARE: (1) present laws extend current price supports through 1954, (2) the administration has pledged to carry out faithfully the legislation now in force, and (3) the present program has much bipartisan support.

Meanwhile, the bank says, "restrictive" sections of the current support program will get more of a workout during the 1954 crop year. Under present laws, many farmers will have to choose between acreage allotments and a sharp drop in support prices as surpluses mount.

Keep Guards In Place For Farm Safety

The best shield that can be made gives no protection if it is not used, farm adviser Carl F. Mees warns. There is no adequate excuse for not keeping shields in place on machinery. It is much easier to be safe than sorry.

National safety council records show hundreds of accidents are caused each year by unguarded power take-off shafts.

If clothing merely touches a revolving shaft or coupling, it may catch, causing the operator to be mangled instantly.

In spite of repeated warnings, many farmers still fail to keep shields in place. Too often they are left in the implement shed or in a fence corner.

* * *

RECENTLY manufacturers have been equipping power-driven implements with non-removable power take-off shields that help to protect these operators against their own carelessness. For most equipment, however, we must still depend on removable shields for protection.

Farmers who do not have standard power take-off hitches or shields should consult their local implement dealers. Hitches and adapter packages for power-driven implements may be obtained from dealers representing the manufacturer of the machine.

Shielding homemade equipment for safety is a special problem that each user must solve for himself. No piece of farm machinery is complete until it shields all exposed revolving parts.

More Uses for Cobs

More than 24 factories now are processing corncobs. But they handle only about six per cent of all cobs produced annually on farms, reports Capper's Farmer. Cob flour now is used as a carrier for chemicals in some insecticides. Cob particles are used in cleaning and polishing cartridge cases and metal parts, cleaning furs, in hand soaps and in many other industrial applications.

Farm Commodities Buy Better Machines Today Than in 1939

How do farm machinery prices in 1953 compare with those in 1939, the year generally used as the base pre-war year on price comparisons?

They are lower in terms of farm commodities according to a survey made by Allis-Chalmers. This is in face of the greater horsepower available in its tractors today plus many other improvements in these and in its implements and harvesting machinery.

Versatile, more efficient tractor, implement, and harvester design permit lighter weight models to do more work than was done 14 years ago by heavier and more expensive equipment.

In 1939 the corn grower paid the equivalent of 2,249 bushels for a tractor and 2-bottom pull-type plow. Today, this combination which includes hydraulic lift plow can be bought for only 1,044 bushels of corn while a larger tractor and 3-bottom plow cost only 1,392 bushels. He can buy the greatly improved 6-foot harvester, with hydraulic lift, for small grains, beans, and seeds for 754 bushels of corn while in 1939 he paid out cash from 1,289 bushels for a machine with only a 5-foot header and hand lift.

The wheat grower had to have 1,515 bushels of his grain to buy a tractor and 2-bottom plow pre-war while now he only needs 719 bushels. If he wants the 3-bottom plow and tractor he can get them for 959 bushels. The combine sells in this market for 520 bushels compared to 868 in 1939.

The spread in terms of hogs is 39½ 200-lb. head in 1953 for tractor and 2-bottom plow and 53 head for tractor and 3-bottom plow against 68½ head for tractor and 2-bottom plow in 1939. The 6-foot combine today sells for 28 head compared to 39½ head for the 5-foot machine.

Expect to Have Peak Production

Signs of a business crest appear.

Steelmakers, who expected that by now the seasonal slack season would have begun, report that ingots are still being bought for costly reheating and converting to other types of steel, and that sheet steel — essential to autos and appliances — is being resold at twice mill prices,

The national association of purchasing agents reports that only one in eight of its members sees any decline in production during the last half of 1953. The agents do report a shortening of advance orders.

The department of commerce reports inventories at an all-time high, but hastens to add that sales are keeping pacbe.

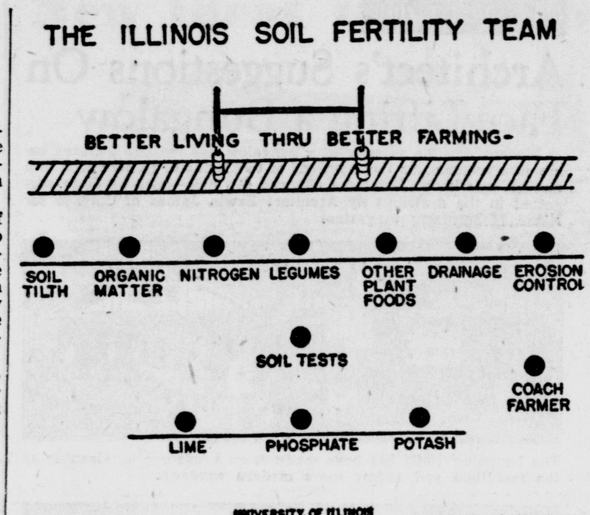

All this adds up to more forward buying than the forward buyers realize. When such buying comes to an end there is always a lull, short or long, in business, as commitments cease to be piled up and holders of goods look for consumers.

June may be the peak production month for this year.

CLEANLINESS

Let the mind's sweetness have its operation upon thy body, thy clothes, and thy habitation.

—Herbert

The phases of soil fertility are like a football team, according to Clyde Linsley, University of Illinois soils man. If a football team is to be successful, it is important that all positions be filled and that each player take care of his assignment.

It is the same way with the soil improvement team. It often happens that some of the team members, such as nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, get all of the publicity. But they can't get very far toward the soil building goal by themselves. The soil fertility program must also have tility program must also have balance. The soil needs to be tested to find out where limestone, phosphate and potash are needed and how much of each is needed to the acre. Legumes are needed to supply organic matter and nitrogen. And, just as important, they improve soil tilth and help to control erosion.

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED

Do not say, "It was him who told me about the show." Say, "It was he who told me about the show."

Do not say, "His office is a long ways off from his home." Say, "is a long way off from his home."

The expression "all of" is frequently used where the "of" is unnecessary. The correct usage is "all his money, all these things, all our days." "He met them all" is preferable to "he met all of them."

Do not say, "Being as you want to settle here, let's look about." Instead, say, "Inasmuch as you want to settle here, let's look about."

Distinguish between "adversary" (one who is actively hostile) and "opponent" (one who takes the other side). "Adversaries meet on the field of battle." "Opponents meet on the debating platform or in the sports arena."

Do not use the adjective "near" for the adverb "nearly." Say, "It is nearly (not near) a year since we met."

WORDS OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED

Entrements (a side dish or dainty). Pronounce an-tre-ma, first a as in ah, e as in her, second a as in may, accent first syllable.

Aplomb, Pronounce a-plom, a as in ask unstressed, o as in on, accent second syllable.

Acrid. Pronounce ak-rid, a as in act, i as in rid, accent first syllable.

Noxious. Pronounce nok-shus, o as in knock, and two syllables, not nok-shi-us.

Onerous. Pronounce on-er-us, o as in on, not as in no; accent first syllable.

WORDS OFTEN MISSPELLED

WORD STUDY

"Use a word three time and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Unimpeachable; exempt from liability to accusation; irreproachable; blameless; unquestionable. "We need an unimpeachable witness."

Plethora; state of being overfull; excess; superabundance. "He has a plethora of ideas."

Salient; leaping; bounding; projecting outwardly; prominent; conspicuous. "He was easily recognized because of certain salient features."

Obviate; to meet or anticipate and dispose of; make unnecessary. "It was in his power to obviate failure."

Collusion; a secret agreement and co-operation for a fraudulent or a deceitful purpose; deceit; fraud. "We suspect that those two men are in collusion."

Modern Etiquette

Q. When a man is entering an elevator with a girl, or getting out of an elevator, which one should precede?

A. He should allow the girl to enter first, and also to step out first, unless the elevator is crowded and he is in front of the door. In that case, he can step out first and wait for her.

Q. Who should be the first person to place his napkin on the table at the conclusion of a small diner party?

A. The hostess, and this is the accepted signal that the meal is over.

Q. Who pays for the bride's bouquet, and for those of her maid-of-honor and bridesmaids?

A. The bridegroom pays for the bride's bouquet, and her family stands the expense of the bouquets for her attendants.

Q. If a young woman is traveling alone on a train and meets a man with whom she is well acquainted, would it be all right to allow him to pay for her meal if he wishes to do so?

A. This would be quite all right.

Q. When a girl has been visited frequently for almost a year by a young man from out of town, and he invites her to spend a week end in his home, is it all right for her to accept?

A. Only if she receives an express invitation from the young man's mother.

Q. Should one place the serving silver on a dish of food when asked to pass it at the table?

A. Yes, always.

Q. If a girl becomes engaged, and she has no family, would it be all right for her fiance's family to announce the engagement?

A. No. The bride-elect always has this privilege, and if she has not the means of giving an announcement party, then she can always extend her "good news" through the local newspapers.

Q. When giving an informal dinner, how should the hostess let her guests know the seating arrangement she wishes?

A. The hostess should stand at her place, and tell each guest just where he or she should be seated.

Q. Is it necessary to make the "thank you" note a lengthy one?

A. Not at all. It may be brief, just so it is written promptly and is sincere in its tone.

Q. Is it proper for a boy to ask a girl for a date if he happens to know that she is seriously interested in another boy?

A. There certainly is nothing improper in his trying.

How to Beat Humidity When Your Car Fails

If your car is hard to start on days when there is a sudden change in temperature and humidity the explanation is usually simple, Chicago Motor Club service experts state.

Condensation throughout the electrical system is generally to blame. Raising the hood to let the air circulate for a few minutes, says the Motor club probably will remedy the situation. The process can be speeded up by wiping spark plugs with a dry cloth when the motor is turned off.

If your car is parked in a garage or other enclosure open the doors of the building to permit more rapid circulation of air.

Watch Out For Early Garden Insects Here

Keep a close watch on your early home garden, and be ready to fight insects with chemical dusts and sprays at the first sign of damage.

J. M. Wright, entomologist with the state natural history survey, says that cutworms can be a big threat if you planted your garden in weedy or sod soil.

Cutworms will cut off cabbage and tomato transplants and other garden crops at the soil line. If you have trouble with these worms, wrap the stems of the transplants with paper or protect them with a tin can. An ice cream carton open at both ends, firmly embedded in the soil around the plant, also will protect plants against cutworms. Or you can spread DDT or chlordane dust around the base of the plant.

* * *

CABBAGE MAGGOTS feed on the roots of these plants. If they attack, the plant usually wilts and the leaves turn yellow to purple. Use two teaspoons of chlordane in a gallon of water, and spread one cupful of the mixture around each plant a few days after you set them out.

DDT or rotenone dust or spray are both effective in fighting bean leaf beetles. Purified DDT or rotenone should be used for cucumber beetles. Adults of these beetles chew off leaves as fast as they form. Keep the leaves covered with the dust or spray as soon as they come out.

* * *

IF YOUR SQUASH vines wilt overnight, it's probably caused by squash vine borer. Purified DDT and rotenone sprayed or dusted around the base of the plant are both effective. Apply either material only to the base of the plant through late June and July.

Aphids have been causing trouble on clover this spring. And you can expect attacks on vegetables if the weather stays cool. Hot, humid weather promotes a fungus disease of aphids that aids in their control. Use either nicotine sulphate or tetraethyl pyrosphosphate (Vapotone, Fosves) if the weather stays cool.

Ask your county farm adviser for Circulars 671 and 672, which give more information on control of garden insects, or write directly to the College of Agriculture, Urbana.

Record Cow

With 499 pounds of butterfat and 12,305 pounds of milk testing 4.1% to her credit, Schraglea Celeste Romella, a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Missionary Sisters, Servants of The Holy Ghost, Techny, has completed a 365-day production test in official Herd Improvement Registry.

She was milked 2 times daily, and was 2 years, 2 months of age when she began her testing period.

Her record averages approximately 16 quarts of milk daily for the period covered by her test.

Sorted Pigs Do Better

Pigs do better if sorted when they go to pasture, it was found at an Ind. farm. Pigs sorted into lots of uniform size give every pig a chance to hold its own, since there are none larger to crowd smaller ones away from feed and water or out of the shade.

Fillers Smooth Open-Grain Woods

In refinishing oak, walnut, chestnut or any other open-grained wood, a paste filler should be used to give the wood a smooth surface.

In most cases, the filler is thinned with turpentine and then brushed on the wood in the direction of the grain. It is allowed to set for about 15 minutes and then the excess is wiped off across the grain. This lets the filler remain in the pores.

When the wood is also being stained, the stain is applied first. Fillers are available in colors to blend with the stains commonly used.

Every hour of every shopping day, do-it-yourself customers spend $1,000,000 for lumber and building materials in the United States. Haircuts Needed To Spruce up Evergreen Trees

As evergreens are the show pieces of many homes, it's important to keep them looking their best.

Care of evergreens should include annual pruning, and now is the ideal time for the job. A pair of gardening shears often is all that's needed to change a shaggy, unkempt tree into a thing of beauty.

Too much pruning can, of course, be harmful but most of the evergreen shrubs need a Spring haircut to restore their nursery neatness, advises L. I. Cobb, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

Many evergreens are raised to conform to certain decorative shapes, such as globes, columns and pyramids. These patterns should be maintained in the shearing process. Otherwise, evergreens should be trimmed to emphasize their natural lines.

Besides being a beauty aid, careful pruning improves the health and vigor of the tree. The annual shearing should be one of the most important points in the home owner's tree care program, especially with most species of taxus, arborvitae, juniper and hemlock.

These varieties generally require more pruning than the coarser growing tree types, such as spruce, pine and fir.

Yellow Bulbs Guard Door Against Insects

The welcoming glow of your front door lights won't attract bugs and other night flying insects if you use yellow lamps, says G-E lighting specialists. Available in 60 or 100 watts, these yellow bulbs are ideal for year 'round use in porch and door lights.

There's no magic in the yellow bulb. Only that insects are less attracted to yellow light than to white light of the same wattage.

May Ask Rate Increase For Public Service

Commonwealth Edison company and its Public Service company division is giving serious consideration to filing "in the reasonably near future" of an application for an increase in rates.

Willis Gale, chairman, made the announcement "reluctantly" at the company's annual stockholders meeting held in Chicago May 26.

If the company decides to go ahead with its rate request, "a petition probably would be filed before July 1, he added.

Should a rate increase materialize, it would be the first for Edison in its entire 66-year history as against 26 electric rate reductions. Public Service had two increases resulting from the inflation of World War I as against 37 electric rate reductions and important gas rate reductions during its 42-year corporate history.

Architect's Suggestions On Face-Lifting a Bungalow

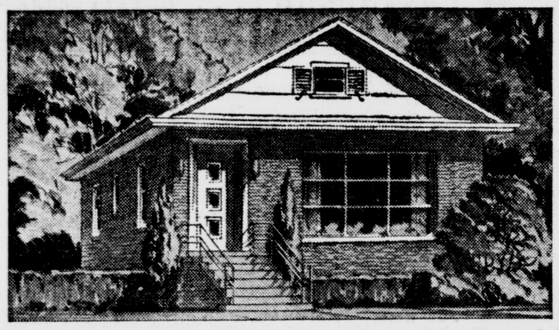

Modernizing the exterior of a bungalow like the one pictured below is a problem, as the hundreds of thousands of persons who own similar ones know. But some changes can help—such as those suggested in the drawings by Architect Erwin James of Chicago for Home Modernizing magazine.

The bungalow (left) has been made more handsome by cleaning up the roof lines and adding more modern windows.

The door is moved to the front, entrance brick work replaced.

More glamorous window treatment added—the popular window wall.

License Plate Backer

MOTORISTS can avoid denting or bending their new automobile license plates by backing them with a piece of Masonite ⅛" Tempered Presdwood. In this way, the metal will be kept straight despite occasional parking incidents.

Cut slightly smaller than the plates, the Tempered Presdwood is attached to the metal by means of ordinary license plate fasteners. First, of course, holes of the proper size are drilled. In addition to the two fasteners at the bottom edge, two are applied at the top corners so that the metal and hardboard are drawn into close contact.

Motorists who have been using this idea find it easier to clean the plates, which are always kept flat. The cost is negligible, but the improvement in appearance is great.

Metal Furniture Rises On Strength, Durability

The use of steel, instead of wood, for interior furniture frames is one of the most important furniture developments of the last half-century, say leading interior designers. The resultant strength and durability has caused metal furniture's popularity to advance rapidly.

All-metal interior frame construction means that the parts of the furniture unit fit together like the parts of a fine watch. Hence, there is greater strength yet lighter weight, longer life, modern styling, and smoother tailoring with upholstered parts stitched right to the metal.

Passport To Pleasure

Paris police announced in 1951, American tourists lost 396 passports in the French capital. Of this total 197 were recovered—78 in bars.

Vets Planning To Buy Homes Should Apply For VA Certificates

Illinois veterans who plan to seek GI loans from private lenders for homes, farms, or businesses should apply to veterans administration in advance for certificates of eligibility.

Beer said this will reduce delays in processing the loan applications later, when the veteran is anxiously awaiting completion of the deal or is pressed for time to close the loan.

Certificates of eligibility are proof for lenders that VA will guarantee or insure a loan if the veteran meets other usual loan requirements.

Since the passage of the Korean GI Bill which extends the loan guaranty benefits of the World War II GI Bill to veterans with service since June 27, 1950, VA must have information not previously needed to establish eligibility. Now, to pass on a veteran's eligibility, VA must know whether the veteran served in World War II or since the start of the Korean conflict, or both; what prior use of his loan guaranty benefits, if any, has been made; the status of any prior GI loans, and whether the veteran still owns real estate purchases with any such loans.

New Ideas In Homes

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. A-214

Here a through living room separates the service and sleeping quarters and looks out on both front and garden views. A rear doorway leads to a concrete terrace overlooking the yard. The fireplace is away from traffic, but placed to include the furnace flue. The front of the living room can be used for dining.

Corner windows, with sink below, increase cabinet wall space while leaving room for kitchen dining. The utility room contains storage closet, cabinet, heating and laundry equipment and service sink. It is convenient to the side entrance and the kitchen. There are three bedrooms with wardrobe closets, linen cabinet and coat closets.

Exterior finish is wide siding, a touch of brick and asphalt shingles. Floor area is 1,147 sq. ft. and cubage 13,191 cu. ft.

PLAIN TALK

We read the other day that the boom and bust cycle can be licked. The solution is elemental: Business leaders must so arrange events that while some industries fall off, others are on the upgrade, and so maintain the balance. We hope the master mind that doped this out can put his idea across, but we predict he will have a hard time convincing some industrialists that they must take their turn going broke.

* * *

Beginning gardeners should learn the value of a compost pile. Save grass clippings, plant material of all kinds, carefully excluding weeds that have gone to seed, and start a heap in some out of the way corner. Add a layer of dirt now and then to help the decaying process. Rake up the leaves this fall and add. Cover with dirt or wire so it won't blow around in the winter, and next spring you will have the very finest soil, for the garden.

* * *

Ex-apartment dwellers, finding themselves with an abundance of flowers in the garden, may wonder just what to do with them in the house. Don't just stick them in a tall vase. Go to the library and borrow some of the books on flower arranging. First attempts may not be worthy of a blue ribbon at a garden show, but some knowledge of the principles will aid the novice in making more pleasing arrangements.

Garden shows provide a wealth of new ideas. The Park Ridge garden club show last week end used the coronation for a theme. "Crown Jewels of the Garden," it was called.

Exhibits of specimens are always inspirational. The men love to inspect the superb varieties displayed in the horticulture classes.

* * *

It was interesting to discover a page devoted to men's fashions tucked away in a business weekly. The blends of synthetic fibers —Dacron, Orlon, nylon and acetate—tend to be not so cool as the old standby tropical worsted, they say. Cords are coolest of all. Or try a silk stantung!

While there is a trend toward darker colors, nubs, slubs, and splashes of color in the weaves are also popular.

The odds are, though, that regardless of all the new blends and weaves, the men will still get off the 6 o'clock trains carrying their coats, with ties loosened and collars open.

* * *

So far this month we might paraphrase "What is so rare as a day in June," to read "What is so rare as a perfect day in June."

The weatherman has dished out winds of near-gale velocity, violent thunder storms, and temperatures so low a fire in the fireplace felt good. We're looking forward to soft gentle days when "Whether you look or whether you listen, you hear life murmer or see it glisten."

* * *

Youngsters would quickly absorb the meaning of the word vacuous if it were defined: Empty, such as the expression on the face of the TV announcer while waiting for the "Off the air" signal.

* * *

What a difference it would make if, when troubles beset us, we would say, "Things always get better before they get worse."

* * *

Water shortages in several of the towns have resulted in sprinkling restrictions. One western suburb even went so far as to refuse to issue building permits until the water supply can be increased.

English housewives would be astounded at the amount of water their American friends pour down the drain. They carefully wash their vegetables in a pan of water, then pour it off into a bucket or sprinkling can to be used for watering the garden. Few homes have an outside tap for a garden hose. Water is billed not only by the quantity used but by the number of taps.

During the hot weather, it would pay to save all the water possible used in the kitchen and empty it in the garden. Remember, Grandma used to empty the dish water on the flowers and the soap suds acted as a bug spray.

THE FENCE POST

Police Pay

The sixty-eighth Illinois general assembly is entering the stretch — and anything can happen in these closing weeks. The general assembly might even wind up on the night of June 27 instead of the early hours of July 1.

As of right now, it appears that the police and firemen back home carry more weight with the legislators than you taxpayers back home. They did in the House, which passed H. B. 174 fixing minimum pay for policemen and H. B. 711 fixing maximum hours on duty in a week for firemen. In the senate, the vote looks close as of now. The next three weeks will tell the story.

Now is the crucial time to get this story to your senator, three representatives and your governor: That you and the other taxpayers back home are fed up, that you're fed up with high taxes going constantly higher, that you don't have a guaranteed minimum wage of at least $300 to $350 a month, that you don't have a pension that will let you retire at age 50 at 50% of salary after 20 years' service, that you don't want minimum wage bills or any other bills passed that will compel your local governments to spend more money if they don't want to, and that you don't want any bills passed that will permit your local governments to impose new or increased taxes on you without your consent through referendum.

"The 102nd Infantry Division Association announces that a current membership list of former members of this Division and all attached units is being compiled. I would appreciate having former members get in touch with me, or to send in their current addresses, also the names and addresses of their buddies which they might have. The division served in the last war in Germany with the 9th army, and included in the division were many members from this area.

Rummage Sale Agent

Recent indications have suggested you were getting tired of publishing letters from readers, and the disappearance of the Fence Post in yesterday's editions confirms the idea you are going it lone.

There may be objections to airing certain drivel that has appeared in the section. Some commendable activities have sickening features. For example, the unctuous, eye-rolling individuals who go to church on Sundays and act like stinkers on week days. Nevertheless there are good ones and some of the Fence Post contributions were worth reading.

You may be able to run a rural weekly without a policy and without giving the people a chance to write what they think, but I think you could do better by broadening a bit instead of just acting as a sort of rummage sale agent. Your ads are effective but if that's your only excuse for existence why not drop all pretense of being a newspaper and just publish a weekly advertisement pamphlet?

Good luck to you.

Traveling Editor Says Farewell To Venezuela

Sunday a. m., May 17.

Some reason, for which I have been unable to get the answer, Venezuela is one-half hour ahead of Eastern time, while Trnidad is one hour ahead.

Today we are at Guanta, the last port in Venezuela at which we will call. The Alcoa line is a fine host. Friday noon we had luncheon at a fine hotel in Puerto Canello with the steamship line picking up the checks.

Saturday it was a picnic on a beach at Puerto Canello. ship's stewards served us after our swims. Buses stopped at family homes along the way where the children would line up for pictures. The fact that some were naked made no difference.

At a stream we passed, a mother was washing the clothing of the family. Four of the younger members playing about had not a stitch upon them, while waiting for their clothes to dry.

The business district reminds you of one big Maxwell street. Even a wedding gown was hanging at one place on the street. The shops are all closed for the siesta of the proprietors during the middle of the day. The shopkeepers have not learned the Maxwell street method of making sales. They do not force anything on possible purchasers.

Just stopped in order to throw some change into the water while boys dive for it. When two or three dive for the same piece of change there is a lot of excitement.

Except for very expensive jewelry, we were told there is only junk to be found in Venezuela.

The custom officials make a big to-do as they look over freight manifests and check landing passengers. Just because you are an American does not excuse one from strict examination. One couple was held up four hours. They were bringing back with them from the United States 18 boxes.

Police officers are first to board ship. Ship employees who want to go ashore are thoroughly frisked as they raise their hands into the air.

Tourists must have a landing card to leave the boat. All of the cards must be returned to the local authorities before the boat is allowed to leave. Venezuela evidently does not want any American immigrants.

Returning employees of the oil companies are only supposed to bring back with them three pairs of shoes. They attempt to get by with distributing their shoes into different pieces of luggage. Shoes in Venezuela are very expensive.

Today we visit an oil company's compound, which gives employees all the luxuries of a large club, including swimming, bowling, etc.

The passengers are now only partaking of four or five courses at dinner, but one table of men from the Argentine take everything on the menu —as many as six to eight courses.

Early risers are served coffee on promenade deck from six o'clock to eight. Those who do not go to bed until after eleven p. m. are served sandwiches, coffee, etc.

The first thing we do in the morning is to check upon dress —whether it can be strictly informal all day. We are required to wear a coat and tie to enter a government building or hotel.

Dress requisites were particularly enforced in Caracas, capital of Venezuela. The government buildings are arranged around a square. The structure used for buildings of the legislature is closed to residents of the country, except on special days.

The ceiling and walls have large paintings depicting the history of the country, while the bones of all their heroes, rest beneath the marble floor or in special niches.

The guide said that all the country's heroes, except one, rest in that building. He was killed in a battle in France 200 or more years ago. On a pedestal to one side is a marble chest, the cover of which is ajar awaiting the possible discovery and return to Venezuela of the remains of the missing hero.

The country is educationally minded. The first university building was erected in Carcas in 1877. Today new university buildings have been erected with special structures for study of medicine, political science and physical science.

The country is proud of the fact that its constitution is an exact copy of that of the United States.

Just got back from Barcelona where we had a chance to inspect a home of a well-to-do family. It is built after the same plan as the French quarter in New Orleans—an inside court room, open to the sky, etc.

The editor has returned to his job, but three more installments covering visits to Trinidad, Jamaica and a resume of the trip will appear in succeeding issues.

✦ Just Around The Corner ✦

from PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

Now, if the power will just stay on, I shall be able to write this letter to you. What a terrible electrical storm we are having here at Manapisu this evening. I have learned tonight that living in the country has its drawbacks — a power line may go down, leaving you unable to even draw water! The prospect of sitting in the dark for very long doesn't appeal to me either. It couldn't have been more than fifteen minutes that our electricity was off, a while ago, but it seemed, sitting there on the little screened in back porch, like fifteen hours.

I promised to tell you, in my last letter, about our trip to St. Ann d' Beaupre. We enjoyed the ride out to this shrine very much. Passing through one little village after another, we noticed the lack of yard around the houses, in fact many of them were side by side and opened onto the street.

Most of the houses appeared to be very old. They were made of cement and had shuttered windows and large porches. It was interesting to see the people sitting and rocking on the porches, watching the tourists go by. Bob and I remarked also at the number of lawn swings. Almost everyone had one in front of or beside their house.

* * *

AS WE NEARED St. Ann d' Beaupre, we found more and more roadside stands, selling almost anything you could think of but wouldn't consider buying. Although we felt at first that this cheapened the shrine terribly and was really sacrilegious, we later realized that most of the proceeds from the stands of these poor people goes to keep up the beautiful church and grounds.

I don't remember ever seeing any larger or more elaborate church. Just inside the doors, you can see the two walls holding huge racks, which contain crutches, braces, glasses and testimonial letters, telling about the miracles believed to have been performed here. Beside the main altar, there are four others located in small nooks on either side of the church. Beautiful old paintings and statuary were in evidence everywhere we looked.

Upon leaving the church, we went into the building housing the Cyclorama. This is a painting of Jerusalem and environs on the day of the Crucifixion. An amazing piece of art, it is 360 feet in circumference. Of course we saw the Holy Stairs that you hear so much about, and watched several pilgrims making the climb, on their knees, of the number of steps theologians believe Christ took on His way to Calvary.

* * *

ON THE SLOPE OF A HILL, we found the interesting and beautifully done life size carvings depicting scenes of Christ's journey to His death. St. Anne d' Beaupre is an unusual place and both Bob and I were quite impressed, despite the fact that it seemed so commercialized.

The trip home from Canada was hurried, since we were so anxious by this time to see the children. We merely passed through Montreal, although some day I think I should like to spend more time in this most cosmopolitan of Canadian cities.

We had friends in Toronto who urged us to spend the night with them. It was fun seeing this couple and catching up on their activities since they moved to this town more than three years ago.

* * *

TWO DAYS after we arrived home, I drove down to Indianapolis to get Megan and Bridget. What a blow to find that Megan was very reluctant to come home, and Bridget had completely forgotten me! Needless to say, "Nana" hated to see the children leave; however, after my two day stay, I packed them up and brought them back home. I probably would have planned a little longer stay with Mother, however, I wanted to be at Mother McA's for Harvard's Milk Day.

I had heard so much about this festival and was delighted to have the opportunity to see it. Early in the morning Gramma, Grampa, Megan, Bridget and I drove into town, arriving just in time to see the start of the parade. How nice it was of our good friend Emma Wilke to invite us to view the proceedings from her lovely second floor apartment, located right over her cute little dress shop. Imagine having seats and air conditioning, while watching the bands and floats come down the Milky way (the white-washed main street)!

The floats, representing almost every dealer in town, were surprisingly elaborate. Also amusing were the children taking part in the parade and hoping for a prize from the judges for their funny or unusual costumes. Tiny tots pushed decorated baby carriages and many older children dressed as clowns. Edward and his friend Larrie were a riot dressed up as a bride and groom, in most amusing outfits and carrying a "Just Married" sign on their backs.

* * *

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL palomino horses I've ever seen trotted elegantly down the street ridden by "cowboys." Also, Hawthorn Mellody Farms were represented by their team of six magnificent black horses, pulling a white wagon.

The former Milk Queens of Harvard graced one lovely pink, yellow and pale green float, and I understand a new queen was to be chosen in the afternoon. Since we had the children with us, we didn't go down to the fairgrounds for the afternoon and evening festivities. As a matter of fact, Bridget became so restless that we left before we even had a glass of milk—given out free of charge to anyone all day long! It was a beautiful day for the celebration—even the rain held off until tonight.

I believe the wind storm is over now, and as I sit here in "Children's House," feeling very cozy, I can hear just a gentle patter on the roof and little balcony.

My love,

Patty.

Declares War On 'Every Species Of Sin' In '67

It is reported the young men of Palatine had formed quite a habit of leaving the church during service. On one occasion, when annoyed in this way, the preacher retorted, "That's right, young men; as soon as your capacity is filled, pass right out." It is needless to say he was not so troubled again during that service.

During his pastorate, a brick parsonage was completed, situated opposite the church; but only a small part of the cost was ever subscribed and the mortgage eventually swallowed the whole; so that a score more years elapsed before the church really owned a parsonage.

* * *

THE CHURCH record proves that Bro. Hanna outstripped all predecessors and successors in the number of wedding ceremonies performed. Whether to credit this fact to the popularity of the preacher or the susceptibility of the young people, we do not know. A number of probationers and some perminent accessions were secured, and this pastorate closed with 112 members and 36 probationers, a considerable gain during the two years.

Chapter V

From 1867 to 1869, George Wallace, now residing at Boulder, Colorado, was preacher in charge. A quotation from his first report to Quarterly Conference will show the style of the man.

"I see nothing to prevent peace and harmony prevailing among us. I shall seek to promote both in a proper way, but shall declare war with every species of sin, whether in or out of the church. I shall aim to promote the spiritual life of each member of the church. I shall not ask how or what I shall preach; this lies between myself and Him who called me to the work."

* * *

THE IMPROVEMENTS to the church already mentioned, cost about $1,100. The Sabbath school prospered; the report shows 28 officers and teachers, 230 scholars, 350 volumes in the library and $100 raised to carry on the schools for the year.

During the summer of 1870, the National camp meeting was held at Des Plaines.

Chapter VI

A six week's series of revival meetings in 1876 secured 15 conversions and accessions to the list of probationers. Sunday school work was rendered more efficient. A church class of Germans was organized and the services of Rev. Dueringer secured to preach in German once each Sabbath. The church was put in good repair, and redecorated throughout, and a new library secured for the Sabbath school.

* * *

THE GERMAN class separated in 1877 and became part of a German circuit. Besides this some leading members were seriously embarrassed financially. But in spite of these drawbacks some conversions took place, and the year closed with 58 members.

During the second year of this pastorate a blessed revival occurred. Two services each day were held for four weeks. Many believers were revived and led into higher experience. Soon after the revival a temperance revival was held. Liberty Jones delivered several lectures to crowded houses, and during these weeks of meetings many signed the pledge.

A flourishing lodge of Good Templars had been organized the year previous. A Woman's Foreign Missionary Society was also organized and did good work. The financial condition of the church was healthy, and old arrears were brought up.

* * *

Chapter VII

A PORTION of the probationers in 1887 have been received into full membership, and it is hoped the greater portion will be. One of the earliest, youngest and most faithful of last winter's converts, Eddie Wanegar, met with a sudden death, April 17, 1887, that never-to-be forgotten Sunday when the bursting of the railroad tank sent five souls into eternity. For Eddie it was a speedy and joyful translation. During this pastorate a parsonage was built, the church remodeled and redecorated throughout, barn and horse sheds built, the whole at a cost of $2500. The church was re-opened Dec. 20, 1885.

A few months later the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, which had been some years dead, was revived. The Sabbath school maintained a steady growth, especially in the infant and intermediate grades. Through the efforts of the choir a new organ has been placed in the church, while the ladies have carpeted the church.

Adding CHARM to YOUR Home

DON'T COMPLICATE BED MAKING

When you form a corner arrangement of two studio couches (or box springs and mattresses) don't angle the end of one unit against the side of the other. This gives an unbalanced effect that looks ungainly and awkward, and makes it necessary to move one unit in order to make the beds.

ANGLE FOR BEAUTY AND CONVENIENCE

Use a convenient table in the corner and form a compact, symmetrical group by angling the sleeping units to the table. This not only adds to the beauty of the room — it makes the bed making easy. This arrangement is an excellent space saver for bed-sitting rooms, and for children's rooms.
